Three Dying As Result Of Dog's Love Of Master

Affectionate Animal Throws
Driver Off Balance While Driving Car
STREET CAR HITS AUTO
Canine Leaps from Wreckage and Disappears After Accident

Milwaukee—The sudden impulse of a police dog to show affection for his master while the latter was driving his automobile, Friday, caused a terrific head-on collision with a street car in which the dog's owner was probably mortally hurt and two companions suffered serious and possibly fatal injuries.

Second Wahlen, Chicago, who was driving the car, is dying at Emergency hospital, physicians said. Hugo Rudolph of Manitowish was seriously injured that his recovery is doubted and John Stroer, also of Manitowish, the third man in the car, suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries. After identifying his companions Stroer became unconscious, but physicians said that he was the least seriously hurt.

The dog, unwitting cause of the crash, which occurred at Third and Court streets, sprang from the wreckage and dashed away with terrified leaps. The crowd which gathered made way for the unusually large animal.

CRASH HEARD FOR BLOCKS
The three men had met at the convention of the Wisconsin State Florists' association. The license plate of the crumpled wreckage was uppermost when the machine came to rest, and under the plate was a sign with a legend, "Say it with flowers."

Wahlen was in the driver's seat, with the huge, tanney dog beside him in the auxiliary seat of the closed automobile. The automobile was going north on Third street. A Walnut car was moving south.

The automobile was on the right car track as the street car approached. When the street car, coming at a rate probably a little in excess of ten miles an hour, was within a few feet, the restless dog suddenly jumped on Wahlen. Under the animal's weight Wahlen's arms were jerked. The automobile cut in toward the street car and they came together with a crash that was heard for blocks.

MACHINE IS CRUMPLED
The motorman's vestible of the street car was partially demolished and the automobile was crumpled as though squeezed by some giant hand. The closed top was ripped off, the motor forced back into the driver's seat and the three men were littered with wreckage.

Stroer was the only one conscious when rescuers arrived.

Wahlen's skull was crushed. Rudolph suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. Stroer was injured internally and his left leg was fractured in a manner that may necessitate amputation. All were taken to Emergency hospital and the wrecked automobile was towed to the police station. The street car was withdrawn from service.

Police searched for the dog, but the animal had disappeared.

INJURIES FATAL WHEN MAN FALLS WITH GUN

Rhinolander—Elmer Radloff, 24, of Phelps, was fatally injured late Friday, while hunting rabbits near his home. Radloff together with two companions, was walking through the woods, when he stumbled, causing his gun to discharge. The bullet entered his breast and he died in his father's arms two hours later.

Buying Rush Puts Prices At New Peak

By Associated Press
New York—An avalanche of buying orders from all sections of the country ushered in Saturday's stock market, sending more than 20 issues to new peak prices for the year in the first 15 minutes of trading on total transactions approximating 150,000 shares. Railroads led the advance but spirited bidding also took place for the standard industrial shares.

This remarkable outburst of strength was a continuation of Friday's excited buying when total sales exceeded the two million-share mark for the first time in 2 1/2 years. Individual sales of 1,000 to 5,000 shares were quite common with a few as high as 8,000.

NINE FOUND GUILTY IN UNION FOOD CASE

Two Defendant Stock Salesmen Freed of Charge in Federal Court

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Nine officials and agents of the Union Food Stores Co. were found guilty Saturday morning in Federal court on charges of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud on or nearly all of the 19 counts charged in the indictments. Two defendant stock salesmen were found not guilty.

Defendants found guilty on 19 counts of the indictment are Edward Crish, city real estate agent; Philip Knippenberg, president of the company; Milwaukee; Edwin Berry, general manager; Waukegan; P. Leslie Osborne, Racine, director; William P. Nolan, director, and Henry G. Tank, sales manager, Milwaukee.

Those found guilty on 18 counts are Michael J. Manion, A. Ellsworth Jackson and Paul Ellmerman, stock salesmen, Milwaukee.

Defendants found not guilty are William P. Lechner and Roy S. Gilroy, stock salesmen, Milwaukee.

COOLIDGE WISHES NOMINATOR HEALTHY

By Associated Press
Ann Arbor, Mich.—Dr. Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan who has been critically ill from pneumonia, Friday night received a telegram from President Coolidge expressing the pleasure of the president that Dr. Burton's condition was improving.

The telegram said:
"Delighted to hear that you are better. Earnestly hope you will continue to improve rapidly."

It is the second message from President Coolidge to Dr. Burton, the first being sent on Election day when the University president's illness was most critical. Dr. Burton made the nomination speech for President Coolidge at the Republican national convention.

FORMER EMPLOYEES ARE SUSPECTED IN ROBBERY

Chicago—Six men believed by police to be former employees, Friday night bound and gagged the watchman of the Empire Storage Co. and spent several hours breaking into a vault and opening 25 safety deposit boxes before they escaped with jewelry and securities, the value of which may run into thousands of dollars. Officials of the company said an estimate of the value of the loot could not be made until holders of the boxes were questioned.

LODGE LOSING IN FIGHT FOR LIFE, REPORT

Physician's Bulletin Notes
Change for Worse in Massachusetts Senator

By Associated Press
Cambridge, Mass.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who suffered a stroke on Wednesday at the Charlesgate hospital where he was convalescing from an operation, was somewhat weaker, a bulletin said.

A bulletin said:
"Senator Lodge's condition is essentially the same. He is somewhat weaker."

The morning bulletin which was signed by Drs. John H. Cunningham and Frederick E. Winslow who have been in attendance on Senator Lodge throughout his illness, said:
"There was no real change in the patient's condition during the night. The general outlook must be considered unfavorable."

Dr. Cunningham, who announced Friday night for the first time since Senator Lodge was stricken at noon Wednesday that his patient had a "fighting chance" of recovery, remained at the hospital all night and before making public his statement Saturday morning made a careful examination of Senator Lodge's symptoms signed by Dr. Winslow. The physicians admitted that the rally of the senator at noon Friday after he had been unconscious 48 hours, was surprising. He had several short periods of consciousness during which he recognized persons around him and spoke a few words, and nourishment was given him for the first time since the stroke. Doctors Cunningham and Winslow commented on the remarkable vitality which had enabled the patient in his seventy-fifth year to "continue a fight" for the against heavy odds for so many hours.

While insisting that the condition of Senator Lodge remained grave, bulletins issued by his physicians late Friday afternoon and night held for the first time hopeful suggestion. More nourishment was given and the periods of consciousness grew more prolonged.

MAN KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Coupe Is Pushed on Tracks in Front of Train by Following Car

By Associated Press
Kenosha—Robert Mico, 35, time-keeper at the Frost Manufacturing Co., was killed Saturday morning at the Truesdale crossing of the St. Paul road when a coupe he was driving was struck by the southbound passenger train at 7:15 A. M. Mico was on his way from his home in Bristol to his work in Kenosha.

He had stopped at the tracks to let two trains pass when another car coming from behind pushed him in the path of the passenger train. He died on the way to the hospital, suffering from a fractured skull. His car was totally demolished.

Harry Shields of Burlington, who was driving the car which bumped Mico, has been placed under arrest.

BOYS REVEAL BODY OF CHUM KILLED IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

New York—Four young boys have confessed that they hid the body of their chum, Ernest Scher, Jr., 13, after he was accidentally shot and killed by a gun with which they were playing ten days ago. After two of them had been trapped in contradictory statements Friday night, the four boys broke down and led detectives to an ash dump in Richmond Hill Queens where the body of the Scher boy was found under a pile of brush with a bullet hole in his temple.

During the ten days, while police, firemen, boys scouts and army airplanes searched for traces of the missing boy his companions stuck to the story that they had last seen him in the swamp near his home hunting moystats. They even assisted in the search but Friday night two of the boys were taken to the place where they said they parted from Scher and asked which way he had gone, one pointed one direction and one the other.

Under threat of arrest they broke down and told the story of accidental shooting which their two companions later corroborated.

COOLIDGE NAMES COMMITTEE FOR FARMING PROBE

President Carries Out One of Few Proposals Advanced in "Keynote"

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge went forward Saturday with his post-election plans, the first of which was set in operation Friday with the appointment of the commission to investigate agricultural conditions.

A conference of the commission comprising eight representatives of farming interests drawn from practically all sections of the country, is expected to be called for the middle of this month. Robert D. Carey, of Careyhurst, Wis., a former governor of that state, is chairman and the membership, it was indicated, may be increased.

With the appointment of this voluntary body, President Coolidge carried out one of the few proposals he advanced in accepting the nomination of the party as standard bearer. He hopes to have his legislative recommendations before him in time for action at the coming short session of congress. This and appropriation bills now are the only measures which he feels will require the attention of the expiring congress.

Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion that present needs would not warrant the calling of a special session of the new congress before its regular meeting in December next year. Nor does he believe it feasible to bring up again with the present congress which passes out of existence March 4, problems of reduction.

CECIL EXPECTED TO JOIN CABINET

Lady Atholl Mentioned as Probable Woman Member of Parliament

London—Viscount Cecil is widely expected to join the new cabinet as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, which is a more or less ornamental post with few administrative duties. His inclusion would bring the number of cabinet members to 20. A number of posts outside the cabinet remain to be filled in the new Baldwin ministry however. Viscount Cecil, as Lord Cecil, was lord privy seal in the last conservative administration. It is generally agreed that there will be one woman member in the new administration and that the Duchess of Atholl will be chosen. The post she will take according to the political correspondents will be either that of parliament secretary to the board of education or one of the Scottish offices.

OPEN ARGUMENTS IN OIL LEASE TRIAL THURSDAY

Los Angeles—Arguments in the trial of the government Elk Hills lease cancellation suit probably will begin next Thursday, counsel for the defendant Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., having rested their case Friday, shortly before adjournment until 10 A. M. Wednesday.

On Wednesday government counsel plans to examine briefly a few rebuttal witnesses after which various stipulations will be entered by attorneys for both parties preparatory to the opening of arguments.

635 REGISTER FOR MEETING OF YOUNG FOLK

Speakers Inspire Boys and Girls of State to Become Useful

Four hundred and ten boys and girls, including one hundred and sixty-two boys and two hundred and forty-eight girls, registered at the First Congregational church Friday for the Wisconsin Young People's conference, which is bringing a number of noted speakers and young people's workers to Appleton as well as attracting the youth of the state. J. L. Rogers of Oshkosh, state secretary of the Wisconsin Christian Education council, is directing the conference. The total number of delegates had grown Saturday noon to 635.

The principal speakers Friday afternoon were the Rev. R. A. Waite of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Antoinette Lamoureux, Jefferies, author, and the Rev. G. VanBuskirk of Oneida, Ill., young people's worker.

The worship period was conducted by the Young People's department of the Neenah Presbyterian church and the singing was led by Mr. Rogers. Emlyn Owen of Neenah, president of the Olds conference, presided.

Part of the afternoon was given over to separate conferences on every-day life relationships for the boys and girls. Mrs. Lamoureux talked to the girls, while "Dad" Waite met with the boys. This period was spent in giving them ideals and inspirations.

The Rev. M. G. VanBuskirk's address was entitled An Eleven Man Defense, in which he brought out the need of each person to help his church, rather than having a "star player." He told of the efforts of churches to interest the youth in religion and how they failed at first. It is not doing everything for them that counts, but guiding them in putting forth their best efforts for the church and humanity, the Rev. Mr. VanBuskirk said.

No matter what conditions are in the churches, no matter in what kind of a community one lives, it is up to the young people to stand by what they think is right. "This, he said, is their duty to God and their fellowmen."

The afternoon closed with conferences for Sunday school leaders and workers. "It is the purpose of the conference to give the young people something concrete to take back with them as well as inspirations and ideals," said J. L. Rogers, director, and this was the attempt to do in these conferences.

Miss Edith M. Town of Oshkosh, chairman of the Wisconsin Christian Education council took charge of a conference for workers with younger children, which later was divided into three conferences for workers in primary, junior and beginner grades. Miss Town was assisted by Mrs. W. S. Semmelroth of Westfield and Mrs. L. M. Weber of Milwaukee.

The Rev. Mr. Waite took charge of the conference for workers in organized churches, the Rev. Mr. VanBuskirk met the workers and leaders of departments and the Rev. C. C. Browne, director of religious education of the Wisconsin Baptist convention, took charge of a conference for Sunday school officers.

Supper was served in the Methodist Episcopal church to the girls and in Memorial Presbyterian church to the boys.

ARREST ONE OF TEN AFTER ROBBERY TRIAL

St. Louis, Mo.—Roy Tipton, one of ten defendants in the $260,000 mail robbery trial which ended Thursday afternoon with the jury unable to agree on a verdict, was arrested Friday on a charge of murder. Information on which the arrest followed was furnished during the trial by Ray Renard, a convict in the Atlanta Federal prison who was the principal government witness in the trial.

The murder charge was preferred in connection with the killing of Constable Edward Nau of St. Louis who was slain on April 8, 1923, a day after the holdup.

MRS. HARDING AGAIN IN SERIOUS STATE

By Associated Press
Marion, O.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late President W. G. Harding, was again reported in a serious condition Saturday morning. She is suffering with kidney trouble. Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her physician, issued the following statement: "Mrs. Harding has not been well the last 21 hours. She slept poorly Friday night, taking but a small amount of nourishment during the day."

SACKED UNION

While the Coolidge electoral votes came from the west as well as the east and even included some of the border states where conservatism is entrenched, the addition of the LaFollette and Davis popular votes in two states west of the Mississippi river show that the margin for Coolidge would be much closer had these two parties combined than was the case in the east. The Democratic opportunity doesn't seem to be in the east. Nor would it appear that the labor vote in industrial centers of the east are of sufficient influence to win over the rural districts. LaFollette made little impression on the farms of the eastern state.

Turning to the west it is apparent that not only did the Democrats in large numbers go over to the LaFollette standard but that many Republicans went to the third party ticket. The big independent group of voters as a rule fierce elections in the west. There is nothing to show that LaFollette got a bigger slice of that group than President Coolidge. All the Democrats can note from the results is that had they combined with LaFollette or had there been nominated a Democrat who could have appealed to the LaFollette faction the race would have been closer in the west and the south would have gone along as usual.

Under the circumstances, the Republicans having gathered virtually all the conservatives, the next move in American politics will be an effort to make the Democratic party a liberal, if not ultra-radical opposition to the Republicans. And if they win converts in congress there will come from western Republicans who think such a course conforms to the will of the west.

RAIL LABORITES DISCUSS BILLS

Cleveland, O.—Labor legislation pending congress, particularly the Hoveell-Barkey bill, which would abolish the railroad labor organizations, was discussed by representatives of the railway labor organizations including the train service brotherhoods here Saturday.

The conference was called by Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The Hoveell-Barkey bill introduced in the House and senate at the last session, is first on the calendar of congress which reconvenes Dec. 1. It would substitute joint adjustment boards for the labor board in railroad relations.

FIND BODY OF SON, 6, SLAIN BY POLICE DOG

Park—Luis Vief and his wife, residents of the suburb of Drancy, returning to their home after a brief absence, found the mangled body of their six-year old son lying beside the family's German police dog. The dog was removed and is being watched for possible signs of madness.

The case has created a stir as dogs of this breed have been favorites and there are thousands of them in the Paris region.

SEVEN PLANES BURN IN AIR MAIL HANGAR

By Associated Press
Cheyenne, Wyo.—Seven airplanes and the building housing them were destroyed by fire when the air mail hangar burned here early Saturday. The loss is estimated at $100,000. No one was injured.

The fire started at midnight and was caused when men working under a plane dropped an extension light which broke and sparked ignited the gasoline soaked flooring.

Democrats Begin To Consider M'Adoo As Candidate For 1928

Defeated Party Regards Outcome of Election as Result of Its Own Bad Tactics, Law-rence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Hope springs eternal in the Democratic breast and nothing appears more significant than the recurrent talk of William G. McAdoo for 1928. Instead of accepting the defeat of Tuesday as a verdict for conservatism, the Democrats are regarding it as the result of their own bad tactics.

This has more than passing importance as a post mortem. It shows what the Democrats are likely to try to do next. For the more they examine the election returns the more they are convinced that LaFollette was the cause of their defeat. Just as Roosevelt in 1912 proved the nemesis of the Republican party, so LaFollette with or perhaps intending it, assisted materially in placing a conservative in power.

Immediately after 1912, the Republicans, especially those who supported Roosevelt, saw the wisdom of keeping the party divided and they reunited in 1916. Even Colonel Roosevelt was so anxious to defeat the Democratic administration in 1916 that despite the appeals of a staunch battalion of Bull Mooseers he refused to be a third party candidate again.

Will Robert M. LaFollette and his followers still stick to their plan of forming this winter a third party organization? The railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor and the other groups which lent their support to LaFollette now see that a continuance of their struggle against conservative doctrine will be futile unless they absorb the whole Democratic party or permit themselves to be absorbed by it.

SACKED UNION

U. S. RECOVERING FROM PERIOD OF INSANITY, CLAIM

Educator Tells Wisconsin Teachers Election Brought Era of Frenzy

Milwaukee—The nation is just recovering from an acute attack of insanity which appeared about Oct. 1 and culminated at the polls November 4, according to E. M. Lindley, chancellor of the University of Kansas, in a statement issued following the delivery of an address before the closing session of the Wisconsin Teacher's association here Saturday.

"Many persons would laugh to learn they had passed through a period of temporary insanity but it is nevertheless quite true," Dr. Lindley said. "Look through the newspaper and you will find them crowded with words and statements that could never occur in a sane period. A judge was killed in Tennessee, a voter was murdered and a number were beaten in Chicago in a free-for-all fight. This all points to a frenzied pitch of disorder."

"If the American people were not good leaders in elections and formal appointments as soon as elections are over we would have the same conditions here and perhaps worse in than in soviet Russia. With the politicians, if the odds go against them, they stand the defeat like a bunch of bloodhounds."

"The American schools, according to the speaker, are trying to teach athletes to win or lose like sportsmen and gentlemen in the hope that the experience will be of benefit to them in later life."

Three Vacancies Left by Deaths Must Be Filled Before End

MAY OUST INDEPENDENTS

LaFollette Insurgents in House
All Have Been Re-elected

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—While there will be a general shakeup in the personnel of house and senate committees as a result of Tuesday's election, fewer than a dozen changes of importance in chairmen will be necessary. At least three vacancies caused by death however, will have to be filled before the expiration of the present congress.

Death of Senators Colt of Rhode Island and Brandegee of Connecticut leave the chairmanships of the immigration and judiciary committees vacant while in the house the merchant marine committee is without a chairman due to the death of Representative Greene of Massachusetts.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota is ranking Republican on the senate immigration committee but he will not be in the senate after March 4. Senator Johnson of California then will be in line for chairman. Senator Borah of Idaho is the ranking Republican member of the judiciary committee while on the house merchant marine committee Representative Edmonds of Pennsylvania, who was not a candidate for reelection, is in line for chairman during the December session, with Representative Scott of Michigan next on the committee's Republican roster.

Senator Bursum of New Mexico, who has been defeated for reelection on the face of incomplete returns, is chairman of the senate pensions committee on which Reed Smoot of Utah is the ranking Republican, while Senator Moses of New Hampshire will be in line for chairman of the post office committee at the expiration of Senator Steiwer's term.

CUMMINGS WILL QUIT
After March 4, Senator Cummins will be relieved of the duties of senate presiding officer and will be in position to resume chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce committee, if the Republican party sees fit to displace Senator Smith, Democrat of South Carolina, who has been serving in that capacity.

In the house, Representative Keller of Minnesota, a LaFollette supporter, is in line for the claims committee chairmanship now held by Mr. Edmonds, while new heads of the house education, Indian affairs, commerce and insular affairs committees will be needed.

Representative Reed of New York is ranking Republican on the education committee, Johnson of South Dakota on the Indian affairs committee, and Fuller on the insular affairs committee. Representative Parker of New York is in line to succeed Representative Winnow of Massachusetts as head of the commerce committee.

There is considerable speculation here as to whether an effort will be made by the Republicans to weed Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and his followers in the senate and house out of the senate, depriving them of their committee assignments and of the privilege of attending party conferences.

Several senators, among them Smoot, have declared in favor of such action, while privately some of the Democratic leaders in the senate have advocated disciplinary action against Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential candidate, on the LaFollette independent ticket.

Senator LaFollette is chairman of the senate manufactures committee and is listed as ranking Republican on the finance and interstate commerce committees. Senators Brookhart of Iowa, and Frazier of North Dakota who usually have lined up with the Wisconsin senator on political issues, have committee assignments but are chairmen of none, while Lord of North Dakota, another senator identified with the LaFollette bloc, is chairman of the public lands committee. Shipstead, Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota, is a member of the committees and Norris of Nebraska, who has repeatedly differed with the Republican organization, is the agricultural committee chairman.

In the house, the LaFollette faction, out of all of whom have been re-elected, have committee assignments as Republicans, some of them serving as chairmen.

MAN HAS NO RIGHT TO CONVERT BIBLE TO SCIENCE TEXT

Prof. Honline Tells Young People It Shows Gods Purpose Only

An excellent presentation of Science and the Bible was given to the Wisconsin young people at the annual state conference when Prof. M. A. Honline of Pasadena, Calif., addressed them Friday evening. The speaker declared that science revealed God's method, while the Bible revealed God's purpose. He said he wished to bring before them three points that he believed because it would be impossible not to do so in the face of the evidence. These were: The Bible is a true record because of the truth of its object; Jesus Christ is the true son of God as He represented Himself to be; Jesus Christ was resurrected from the dead. The Bible was not written to teach science, but was written first, last and always to teach religion. The speaker said he wished he could burn this into the brain of every high school and college student in the United States. A man has no more right to go to the Bible for science than he has to go to his watch to see how hot it is, although the men who wrote the Bible shared in the scientific knowledge of their day. He went on to say that the Bible was written to reveal the love of God, our Father, that science came from and reveals God, and that the Bible also came from God and he said he was quite certain that it revealed Him. Prof. Honline declared that science and the Bible were twin children of God. He said science told how the Bible the why; science was the mind, the Bible the heart; science was wisdom, the Bible love; science was evolution, the Bible the personality back of evolution. There is no conflict between the two, the professor told his audience, the conflict is in the interpretation. Biblical interpretation changes and so does that of science, he declared, and those who would be truly educated and would know and appreciate civilization, must include both religion and science in their curriculum. Science is going up one side of a mountain, Prof. Honline illustrated, and the Bible the other, and both are near the top. He believes that when they meet there will be no struggle, but the two will peacefully go on together, for scientific truth can never conflict with Biblical truth. A welcome to the delegates was extended by Miss Dorothy Peterson, who represented the girls, Maurice Lewis, who represented the boys, F. J. E. Wood, who spoke in behalf of the citizens of Appleton and the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt, who welcomed the visitors for the churches of the city. Miss Winifred Cheney of Beloit presided at the session and was assisted by the Rev. M. C. Van Buskirk, who led the singing, and J. L. Rogers, who is directing the conference. Mrs. Antonette Lamoreaux, who spoke at Friday afternoon's session, also spoke Friday evening. Mrs. Lamoreaux spoke on One of My Heroes, whom she said was Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the beloved Labrador physician. She sketched parts of his life briefly, revealing his kindness and bravery and the splendid example of unselfishness that he gives. MAKE CITY BOAST IT IS CHRISTIAN

"Dad" Waite Tells Young People How to Make Lives Unselfish

No matter how much one knows or how rich or strong one is it avails him little unless those virtues are consecrated and dedicated to God, was the message that the Rev. R. A. "Dad" Waite of Evanston, Ill., brought to the young people of Wisconsin who assembled in Appleton Friday afternoon for the Wisconsin Young Peoples conference. The Rev. Mr. Waite is associate director of the American Youth Foundation.

He spoke Friday afternoon in the place of Prof. M. A. Honline of Pasadena, Calif., who did not arrive in Appleton in time to deliver his address at the specified time. Prof. Honline spoke Friday evening, taking the time allotted to Mr. Waite.

The Best That's in Me was the subject of "Dad" Waite's address. He said that whenever one attends a conference, one hears that this city produces the most of one product, another is the greatest manufacturing center and still another boasts that the largest college in the country was situated there. But what city, he asked, can boast that it is a city of God? This was his challenge to the young people.

The average human being, according to the Rev. Mr. Waite, uses from one-fourth to one-third of his brain. He is just touching the fringe of knowledge, he said, but yet what good will any knowledge do him unless it is dedicated to the service of God?

He spoke of three personal pronouns, I, you and me. These, for Christian service, "Dad" Waite told his audience, should be turned around, reading he, you and I.

FIELD MAN HERE TO PLAN ROLL CALL

Preparations for the annual Red Cross roll call, which takes place Nov. 11 to 27, are being made in this city by A. S. Moreau, field representative of the central division of the American Red Cross, with headquarters in Chicago. Mr. Moreau has been in Wisconsin for the last month to arouse interest for this call.

Funds for the support of the local chapter and the national and divisional offices are received by this call every year, the only support given the central division. Mrs. J. A. Wood, 660 Washington-st. is the local representative.

Mr. Moreau also has charge of the first aid and life saving departments of the division and will give demonstrations at the Y. M. C. A. pool for local swimming instructors and swimmers while he is in Appleton. He will put on a swimming exhibition, demonstrate holds and breaks used in life saving and show methods of artificial respiration.

SMALL PRINT SHOP IS RUINED BY FIRE

Fire starting from an overheated sheet metal stove practically ruined the small shop of the Economy Printing company at Superior and Franklin-sts at about 4:30 Friday afternoon. Firemen saved the building from collapse, but it was destroyed almost beyond repair. The building is owned by Ryan & Long, and the printing shop was operated by William Geiger. Some stock was destroyed, but the printing machinery was left quite intact.

REENFORCE CANAL AFTER BANK IS WASHED AWAY

The canal bank at the rear of the Patten Paper company where a wash-out occurred last Sunday has been reinforced this week. During the shutdown of mills on Sunday morning, the water of the Fox river rose so rapidly that the dam tender could not pull out the needles fast enough. In consequence the water in the west canal, rising to unusual height, tore two large holes through the bank at the Patten Paper company. One was about 12 feet, the other 15 feet across. The damage was repaired, however, the same day, and several days later reinforcements were made at the bank.

Sousa's Concert Goes Straight To Hearts Of 1700 Hearers At Chapel

Seventy Summers Haven't Dimmed Genius Of Great March King—Introduces Jazz Numbers With Bit Of Satire

John Philip Sousa, 70 years and a day young, led his famous band straight into the hearts of Appleton's music lovers Friday night. Nearly 1,700 people packed Lawrence Memorial chapel to its doors and at the conclusion of two hours and fifteen minutes of music, the like of which has not been heard here in many a day, every one of the 1,700 was happy over a most delightful evening.

Much can be said and has been said about Mr. Sousa and his band but if all that has been written might be gathered together it would not tell all that can be said about the leader and his organization. Mr. Sousa is the heart and the soul of his band—that was evident Friday evening. Perhaps, he wasn't the fire which characterized his directing in his younger years but there wasn't a moment during the evening that he wasn't complete master of the stage and the impression of power and virility which he left won't be forgotten in a long time.

STILL VIGOROUS

Time has dealt lightly with Mr. Sousa. It has grayed the few hairs he has left but it left him erect, powerful, agile and youthful. He moved his youthful spirit by incorporating in his program a half-hour of the jazziest kind of jazz. But there was a suggestion of satire in the portion of his concert. Perhaps he included the so-called modern music in his program to show its utter lack of worth by contrasting it with the majestic, the melodious productions which made up the bulk of the evening's entertainment. There was more than a hint of satire in the Chinese scratch song which passed for the title of the first jazz number. It was a good description of what jazz is.

But there was enough variety in the evening's program and in the afternoon too, to please the most fastidious persons. Those who liked snappy marches, with plenty of brass and crashing of drums and cymbals, found it in profusion; those who favored the heavier symphonies, with the light passages and the tossing of melody from one instrument to another, must have been satisfied and those who want the light music of the "popular style" spent a most enjoyable fifteen or twenty minutes at the opening of the second part of the program.

SOLOIST PLEASURES

Mr. Sousa knows how to please an audience. And he has a good eye as well as a good ear. Miss Nina Fauchard, who sang a group of popular solos, pleased the big audience with her good looks almost as much as she did with her excellent voice. And Miss Fauchard can sing. The way she sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" is going to keep a lot of folks talking for quite a while. All of Mr. Sousa's solo artists were of the highest type. John Dolan, cornetist, said to be the world's greatest living artist with his instrument, no doubt would be voted that honor by the Appleton audience if it were given the opportunity to do so. So with George Carey, xylophone artist and Louis Gooding, saxophonist. They are real musicians and a credit to any musical organization.

Mr. Sousa played a number of his famous marches as encore numbers and they went big. The crowd clamored for more but Mr. Sousa, sensing that the hour was late, cut down the number of encores. His "Stars and Stripes Forever," perhaps the most famous march in all the world, was the cause of a tremendous outburst of cheering which forced his band to play still another encore.

It was a splendid concert by a great band. There was a lot of inspiration in the performance. It is too bad that everyone can't have the opportunity of hearing Sousa's band. Music like that is bound to make better men and women of all who hear it. Seventy years are resting on Mr. Sousa's shoulders. Just how many more years he can carry and still do the work which would tax the strength of a much younger man is problematical. There were a lot of people in Friday night's audience who hope that he can keep off Father Time long enough to give Appleton another concert like that one.

150 ABSENTEE VOTERS IN TUESDAY ELECTION

Along with the record vote that was cast at the various polling places of the county on Tuesday there was an unusual number of absentee voters who made use of the absentee ballots.

About 150 of these ballots were given out by John E. Hanschel, county clerk, before the election. Some of them were sent through the mails and some were called for by the voter in person. Nearly 100 of the applications came from Appleton residents, largely traveling salesmen or invalids. A big share of the ballots also went to Appleton students at Oshkosh normal school, Marquette university and the University of Wisconsin who did not desire to be deprived of the opportunity to vote.

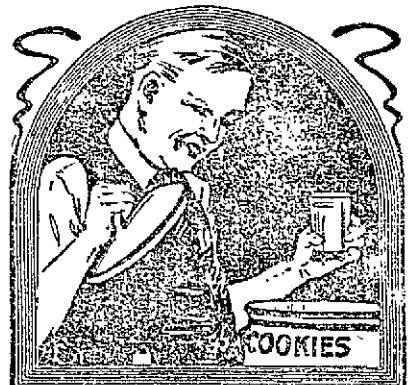

RETIRING MINISTERS RECEIVED BY ROYALTY

London — King George Friday received the ministers of the retiring Labor government who handed over their seals of office at a brief ceremony which attracted little public attention.

The king held a council with Premier Stanley Baldwin and the members of his cabinet at which the custom of kissing the sovereign's hand was carried out.

APPLETON WANTS DE MOLAY MEETING

Appleton probably will entertain the state convention of the Order of DeMolay next year if a campaign now being conducted by John F. Rose chapter of this city takes effect.

Many Wisconsin cities seek the convention but Appleton wants it and the chapter is sending a letter to all other lodges of the state asking them to vote for this city when the referendum is made. Members of Appleton chapter went personally to Willard D. Isham, Milwaukee, state adviser, to ask for the gathering but no decision has been reached.

The convention is wanted particularly for Appleton because of the excellent facilities provided by the new Masonic temple. The DeMolay order is made up of boys and is affiliated with the Masonic order.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

An era of high and sustained prosperity is predicted. The forecast follows immediately upon the election, and the confident opinion about the future is largely based upon the election of Mr. Coolidge. There is every reason why the prediction should be verified. In the first place, producers and manufacturers will be put in the right mental attitude. They will know that they are not going to be harassed nor unduly taxed. On the contrary, they will expect relief from some of the present burdensome taxation. The railroads are safe for a number of years from disturbing agitation and legislation. They can go ahead with improvements, with the prospect that capital will be more easily obtainable and that their earnings will be increased. Transportation and commerce will, therefore, be on a secure footing and in a position to keep pace with production.

Foreign trade should constantly revive with the putting into effect of the Dawes reparations plan. Germany's economic recovery is certain to follow, and with it increased benefits to England and France. Therefore, our trade abroad, not only in this direction, but in other directions, should be materially improved. We should have better markets for our raw materials and particularly our farm products.

We are going to have for some time a minimum of interference by government in the affairs of business, and that is one of the greatest needs of the country. Exactly the opposite would have happened had the election been thrown into congress or had La Follette by some inconceivable trick upon humanity been elected. Business was ready to wait and be shown had Coolidge not been elected, and it was not going to take any chances. What the people want primarily is prosperity. All of the other social and political blessings they had. They want good times. It is under such circumstances that labor continues to make headway in self-improvement, that the farmers enjoy their greatest returns, that the true American spirit of enterprise and initiative asserts itself.

As the next few years go by everyone should receive good returns from his labor his goods his service. We think we are entering upon an era of good feeling and prosperity such as the United States has not enjoyed in many years. We think government will be on a high and better footing, and cleaner than it has been for many years. We are not going to go very far amiss with Calvin Coolidge at the wheel.

THE MAN WHO WORKED

Jules Jusserand has been French ambassador to the United States for twenty-two years—a long time to stay in one diplomatic post. Ambassadors come and ambassadors go, like presidents and premiers and cabinet officers. Administrations change at the whim or will of the people and officers change with shifts in administrations. Nothing is certain in politics but mutations in power. Jusserand's rise was attributed to work, and no doubt his retention at the American capital may be ascribed to merit. The man who works long and hard loves his work, and he is, as a rule, conscientious.

Jusserand was an assistant or junior in a government bureau when Gambetta was prime minister of France. Gambetta wanted a complete report on an important foreign question by morning. The bureau chief assigned Jules to the task, and the young man finished the last page as the premier arrived at the office. The report was perfect. Gambetta was so well pleased that he asked who had prepared it. "Jules," said he, "must have some recognition for this, I appoint him counselor to the embassy at London."

Every industrious young man does not reap instant or adequate reward. This is why the preaching of hard work is received with a cynical smile. Some of the best work goes unnoticed, or recognition is so long postponed that it does not fire elation. But no one can be thorough in business or profession, or increase his qualifications, unless he applies himself. For work is experience, and it develops the habit of concentration.

One chief may not appreciate industriousness and merit, but another will. It is easy to change chiefs. Good, hard work deserves reward and seldom fails to harvest it. "There is no excellence without great labor," is a truism. And excellence exploits itself. Working hard is a habit worth acquiring. It is an easy habit, once it is fixed. Whoever has it finds his greatest pleasure in his occupation.

THE PEACEFUL ARTS

Through the will of the late Mr. Henry R. Towne, New York city is to have something like $3,000,000 for a Museum of the Peaceful Arts. A specific trust fund of $50,000 is set aside, the income of which is to be used in advertising the institution.

We shall save many lives and much property if we magnify the blessings of peace and expose the horrors and losses of war. War we have always regarded as dramatic, but war is the most tragic affliction of the human race.

The plots of many of the great novels and the principal chapters of most history glorify war. We have made heroes of murderers and dramas of carnage. Romance was festooned on the battle-axe. Those who slew the people and destroyed property were the great heroes. Alexander was a demi-god because he conquered the world while Pericles, who was a builder, and left his artistic impress on succeeding generations, was a secondary figure. Every schoolboy pictures Alexander as a champion of victory, while Pericles' fame is known only to advanced students.

Wonders of peace, assembled, will show us that war is retrogressive interruption, and that the human mind and soul are at their best when engaged in service for the common good. The greatest result of the peaceful arts is improvement of the conditions of living.

With few exceptions the art of free government and better living have not been promoted by war. The Towne Museum will emphasize to us the fact that war is destructive: peace, constructive.

LOOKING BACKWARD

BETTER FOOD AND LESS MEDICINE.

It is not very encouraging to consider that constipation is almost as prevalent today as it was in the days when almanacs were always available at the drug store. As an index of enlightenment of the laity about health, this condition is still common enough to warrant pessimism. The question that arises in one's mind is whether the general run of folk are susceptible to health teaching, or are they immune to enlightenment by means of physiology or hygiene by means of previous inoculation with the almanac stuff? The key note or central motif in the almanacology of days gone by was "keep the bowels open and the head clear" or something like that. That there has been done the country-wide harm. How much better it would have been for us all if the quacks and nostrum mongers had chosen as their slogan: Never mind the bowels and bank the difference.

Constipation is costiveness. Everybody knows what that means. There are still a few old timers who prefer almanacological terms for it, such as "torpid liver," "congested bowels" and even "weak stomach." And worse still some students of physiology glorify constipation with the title of "auto-intoxication" and eagerly take up any kind of treatment so long as it isn't "pills and potions."

This is not the time to have remarked that the majority of victims achieve constipation by the cultivation of the habit. We haven't space to consider here the several aspects of that question, but I want to call especial attention to a factor of some importance in the introduction of the habit of constipation. In a great many letters I have received from mothers of young infants I find some such allusion as this:

My baby is troubled greatly with constipation. She is eight or ten months old, and from the age of eight weeks she has been given condensed milk.

I had very little trouble with her while I nursed her.

It is to be expected that an infant who receives condensed milk will be constipated.

The curious thing to my mind, is that a great many such complaints come from country places where perhaps cow's milk is to be had perfectly fresh every day, yet the mother has not perfectly rejected it on one poor pretext or another, and tries to justify the unfortunate baby along on the artificial substitute.

Even in the cities where nothing but pasteurized milk can be had it is infinitely better food for an infant than condensed milk, and if the pasteurized milk is supplemented with a spoonful or two of orange juice or tomato juice daily (to prevent scurvy) the baby fed with it will be nearly as well off as though sterilized milk were available or plain fresh milk delivered directly after milking.

The resort to condensed milk—or something just as inadequate—in the feeding of a young infant is responsible for a great deal of constipation, not to mention the grave defects of nutrition which inevitably appear sooner or later when such inadequate food is given for more than a temporary makeshift.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

LOOKOUT, WYOMING!

Somewhere in your column I saw reference to a book of which you were the author. Price $2. Kindly give me the name of the book. Let me have written several, this one was a kind of "doctor book" (M. C. Lookout Wyo.)

Answer—The memory of the price lingers long after the name of the book has been forgotten. And I suspect that is all right and natural enough, too. The book is punk, yet you may possibly get $2 worth of diversion out of it, as book goes nowadays.

The name of the book is a secret, I think—the publisher seems to be afraid to let it out. But now that you've got on the trail of the book I'll tell you it was "W. B. Saunders company, Philadelphia, Pa., and the book sports the engaging title of "Personal Health."

God's Way Is Good

Please give me a formula for preparing wheat for food, in the way the . . . company does it. (M. E. F.)

Answer—Don't believe God's way can be improved upon. Get a farmer or a feed store man or a miller to deliver you a bushel of wheat, and just cook it to suit your taste. The unground wheat requires prolonged cooking, two or three hours. It makes an excellent dish, served in various ways.

Hungry Young Man

I am a young man 26 years old and I have every reason to believe I have a tapeworm. To wit, when getting up mornings I feel faint and sick to my stomach. But the moment I eat something I am all right. I eat very much but do not put on any weight. I am hungry all the time and when I can't get anything to eat I am sure to feel sick to my stomach and faint and chilly. It worries me a lot. (B. H.)

Answer—You imply that your tapeworm is robbing you of all the nourishment—not an uncommon fancy. The fact is that most people who tellly have tapeworms are well nourished or a little over-nourished. Tapeworms are not voracious creatures, at least yours are not. You have no particular reason, as far as your description indicates, to imagine you harbor a tapeworm. Your trouble seems more in the order of a hyperinsulinism, an overactive pancreatic function perhaps from a bad habit of eating too fast and too much. Try taking smaller meals at more frequent intervals—five or six small meals daily. Take an orange first thing in the morning when you wake up. Keep a square of milk chocolate or some similar thing in your pocket and eat it slowly, when you feel sick and faint. Above all practice Fletcherman—make a business of masticating every morsel until you have extracted every bit of taste from it before you swallow it.

Another Doctor Advises

I had saved up money for the coming season, and then a doctor told me that I could not eat any tomatoes or vegetables of any kind because something in the blood of an expectant mother causes such things to spoil—Mrs. W. L.

Answer—When you tell me you all that he must have thought you very gullible. A similar superstition is entertained by some women regarding menstruation.

A National III

May I report some of the things which have cured me of constipation? It seems a pity that people should not know. My physician thinks cathartics very bad, that you need more and more as time goes on. These have helped me. (1) Prunes every night for supper. (2) Bran every morning as breakfast cereal or mixed with other cereals. (3) seven glasses of water between meals (one before breakfast, preferably hot). (4) exercise Nos. 2, 4, 7, 11 and 14 of the Brandy symphony for 10 minutes each morning before dressing—H. E.

Answer—Constipation is the great Yankee weakness. A cultivated weakness.

Tuberculosis

Please tell me if a person taken with tuberculosis will die in five months time, or do you think there must have been some other trouble which set in? (O. T.)

Answer—A form of tuberculosis called acute pulmonary tuberculosis is sometimes as rapid in its course as a phlegm fever. Another form, acute pneumonic tuberculosis, the course of the disease closely resembles that of pneumonia.

Rural Britain Annually Holds Choir Festival

(Dorothy Hawkins, in The Landmark)

Imagine the conditions in our village. The conductor of our choir is the organist of the parish church, stout, gray-haired and red-faced, entirely self-taught. On weekdays he launders as a clerk in the cattle market of our town, he only lives on Sundays and on Tuesday evenings when his choir meet to practice.

It has difficulty over the pronunciation of Eurydice when we sing Gluck's Orpheus, but he has the enthusiasm which overcomes all obstacles. During the last weeks before the festival he would practice us nightly if he could. The village shop keeper, the dressmaker, the carpenter, the elegant wife of a brewer, the village idiot—all are worked up to such a state of perfection that year after year we carry off a challenge banner.

It is a great day, the day of the musical festival. We drive to the town in char-a-bancs or in our own cars. The town is beflagged for our reception, and the town hall or corn exchange, after being full for the competition, is packed at night for the singing by the united choirs. It is not difficult for choir after choir to sing the best pieces, but the real tug-of-war comes over the sight test, a different piece for each choir.

What eagerness to glance at it rapidly beforehand! Why does not our conductor have a short spasm, needs staid refreshment, for a couple of minutes? How madly and greedily did the last choir get through! And so we plunge into the tunnel—away, and jamming—collapse and recovery of the tenors, breakdown of the sopranos saved by the altos, bass maintains its dignity by a long sustained note, and at last daylight emerges and marvel of marvels we all come in together on the last note, the judge smiling sardonically as the tell tale pitch pipe reveals a semitone drop. No wonder the principal bass observes "a bit dewy today, ain't it?" as he wipes his forehead. And so the interest continues throughout the day.

From the Kansas City Star

Did stone age men begin to learn how to write fifty or a hundred thousand years ago? Prof. William Faulkner of Berlin, Germany student of the ways of the ancient cave dwellers, thinks it possible.

As support for his theory he points out the steady change in early stone age art, from the realistic to the conventional. The cave paintings of the earliest peoples, he shows, were much better pictures, looked at purely as art, than were the later ones. There was a steady tendency through the early ages to formalize art, until at last the figures became simply conventional symbols and were no longer pictures at all.

Toward the close of the old stone age they painted mysterious signs on pebbles, which have been found in the upper strata. They may have been merely playthings; but Prof. Faulkner points out that the present day Australian aborigines have similar painted stones and sticks. The figures on these ancient pebbles are strikingly like the picture writings of the Chinese, Babylonians, Egyptians and Mayans.

Sixty years ago, before the formation of the Universal Postal Union, it cost 12 cents to send a letter to England, 80 cents to send one to Brazil, 72 cents to send one to France, and to mail one ounce from the United States to New Zealand cost $2.60.

Q Would it be possible to break a glass by getting the same pitch on a violin? W. J. D.

A The Bureau of Standards says that this is possible. Such experiments have been made.

Q In a game of poker can the player open a pool, split two small pairs and draw three cards? E. W. S.

A In Jack Pot Poker, an opener is supposed to protect his discard. He can then split openers without an hundred.

Q Where is Benning Forest? T. T.

A The Benning National Forest is near Columbus, Georgia. It has just been formally created by proclamation of the President. This forest is located within the area embraced by the Fort Benning Military Reservation, the forest boundaries including about 30 per cent of the military reservation, or 78,000 acres.

Q What is the average number of times that children are ill each year? D. S.

A The Public Health Department says that the only studies that it knows of in regard to the length of sickness per family in the United States for medical attention was made in Hagerstown, Md., but the result of the investigation is an example of what might be expected of other cities and communities. This investigation was confined entirely to school children. In the terms of averages it was found that each child of a large group of children in the public schools was ill during the school session 2-3 1/2 times. Common colds, headaches, digestive disorders, tonsillitis etc. seemed to cause more absence than any other conditions.

Q What is a yam? H. H.

A The term yam is applied colloquially in the United States to certain kinds of sweet potatoes. In reality, the yam is the edible tuberous root of various plants of the genus Dioscorea, which is used largely as a substitute for the potato in tropical countries.

Jap Phone Girls Dressed Oddly

(From The Chicago News)

Telephone operators in Japan are called moshi moshi girls, the term moshi being the Japanese equivalent for hello.

All Japanese telephone operators in the city of Tokyo are required to wear a uniform costume, consisting of a sort of skirt called a hakama, which is worn over a working kimono of coarse, white cloth. The sleeves of this kimono are not as full as those of an ordinary kimono and are tied with a cord just below the elbow in order to prevent them from interfering with the movements of the operator's hands. The hakama has a sash tied in front.

The attire of the Japanese operators is completed by a pair of white cloth foot covers and straw sandals. They wear no stockings, which is a custom peculiar to all Japanese women except those who adopt foreign styles.

Unusual People

GETTING AN EARLY START

D. P. Lowe Jr., Edmond, Okla., is only 10 years old, but he entered the freshman class at the Oklahoma Central State Teachers' College this year.

He entered grade school five years ago, and since then has covered work that usually requires 12 years.

By the time he is 14 he will be a college graduate, qualified to teach high school classes—except that state law won't permit a teacher's license to be issued to any person less than 18.

"Anyway, I don't want to be a teacher," says young D. P. "I'm going to get a Ph. D. degree, and by then I'll be 16 or 17, and it will be time to decide what I want to make of myself."

Both of his parents are teachers.

nouncing his play until the hand is over. Otherwise it is necessary for the opener to announce his discard if he splits openers. Two small pairs are of course openers.

Q How many married women are gainfully employed? How does this compare with the number employed 10 or 20 years ago? G. E.

A The latest census of the United States shows that there are 2,000,000 married women that are gainfully employed outside of their homes. The number is steadily increasing. In 1880 only five in every hundred married women worked, but in 1923 it has risen to nine in every hundred.

40 Veterans In Armistice Day Pageant

Production Honoring Day Will Be Presented Free to Public

The coming of America into the World war will be dramatically depicted by members of a machine gun squad using the latest Browning machine guns, and 40 uniformed veterans of the war, in the presentation of "To Arms for Liberty," Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, in Lawrence Memorial chapel. The pageant is given free of charge to all who are interested to see the actual reproduction of some of the scenes of war.

The veterans will be ushered onto the stage during the playing of American patriotic airs by the First National Guard band. The stage will be decorated with flags of all of the allies, and each character representing the different countries engaged in the war will be costumed appropriately for the occasion.

The mammoth stage at the chapel will be filled to capacity with children and adult performers, and the audience is expected to fill from the time the curtain goes up until it falls after the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Miss Irene Bidwell of the Second district school, will be the pianist for the occasion. Carl McKee of Lawrence conservatory will have charge of the makeup work, and the lighting effects will be worked out by Royolds Chalmers and Harold Zuchke.

Students from the conservatory taking the public school music course will take the principal speaking parts. They will enter in the following manner:

Belgium, Ruth Blomstad; France, Vivian Crisp; Britain, Gladys Thompson; England, Dorothy Peterson; Ireland, Irene Jenkins; Scotland, Lois Werner; Wales, Genevieve Jones; Canada, Ruth Noble; India, Nina Shields; Australia, Ethel Elmer; New Zealand, Helen Kottel; Serbia, Marguerite Goude; Russia, Evelyn Travers; Japan, Alice Walters; America, Pauline Beckwith; Italy, Pearl Felton; Mexico, Ethelyn Swanson; Charity, Evelyn Travers.

Children from the Lincoln, Columbus, Franklin, and Fourth district schools will take the following parts: Montenegro, Dorothy Kubitz; San Marino, Margaret Horton; Roumania, Myrtle Klocklen; Greece, Doris Parker; Portugal, Dorothy Bawway; Hope Heien Block; Faith, Marcella Buesing.

PARTIES

A linen shower was given Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Thomack at their home on 17th street, in honor of the son, Roy, and his fiancée, Miss Malinda Wyro. Fifty guests were present and the evening was spent dancing to music furnished by the West Side band.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Jr., 838 Durkee-st., entertained 40 guests in honor of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, Friday evening. The guests

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

CARE OF INFANTS DURING THE SUMMER

The hot weather of Summer is extremely dangerous to the lives of infants and young children, not only because of the depressing effects of high atmospheric temperature in general, but more especially because of the effect of hot weather upon all perishable articles of food, among which cow's milk holds the first place.

It is therefore highly important that cow's milk to be used for infants' food should be the purest and freshest that you can buy. During the hot weather ice is absolutely necessary for the preservation of milk and all milk used for food should be cooled by ice as soon as it comes from the cow and should be kept next to the ice until ready to be used. A little money spent for ice may prevent illness and its much greater expense for medicine nursing and medical attendance. As water is often a carrier of disease, it is safest to use only boiled water for drinking or the preparation of a baby's food.

DO NOT NURSE THE BABY WHENEVER IT CRIES

A moderate amount of crying helps to develop the lungs. Babies who are nursed irregularly, or whenever they cry, are likely to get indigestion and then cry the harder for pain. Nurse regularly and the baby will soon learn to expect its nursing only at the proper intervals. Give the baby a little boiled water several times a day.

After the baby is two months old lengthen the time between feeding to two and a half or three hours, with only one of two feedings at night.

CLOTHING

Do not put too much clothing on the baby in Summer. During the hottest weather remove most of the clothes; a thin, loose shirt and a diaper are sufficient during the day and on very hot, close nights.

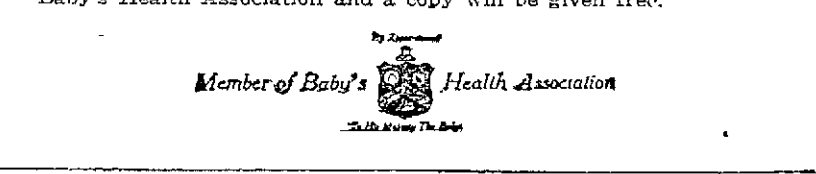

Never use clothing made with tight waistbands. Petticoats and skirts should be supported by straps over the shoulders.

FRESH AIR

Fresh air is as important for the baby's health as fresh food. During the Summer keep the baby out of doors as much as possible. Keep the baby out of the kitchen. He may get a "sunstroke" from too much heat indoors.

To The Mothers of Appleton

If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health" call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

Judge Schmidt Will Address Eagle Order

Judge Albert Schmidt of Manitowish was past state president of Fraternal Order of Eagles and chairman of the old age pension committee of Wisconsin. He will be the principal speaker at the open meeting of the lodge at 8 o'clock Monday evening in Eagle hall.

A. G. Koch will be chairman of the meeting, and members are asked to bring as many prospective members as they can to witness the program. The committee has made elaborate arrangements. Local members will give short talks.

Included: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ballheim and son Ira, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Mignon and daughter Lois May, Mrs. John Wagner, Sr., Albert Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Feotter, Franklin Maass, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Maass and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Stecher and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wichman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krueger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer, Mrs. Theodore Lang, the Misses Elizabeth and Katherine Meyer, Marie Lang, Clara Stumpf and Beatrice Kayner.

Mrs. Theodore Lembecke, 827 Meade-st. entertained the girls employed at Appleton Toy & Furniture Co. at an aluminum shower Friday evening in honor of Miss Allan Gladwin, who is to be married to George Sylvester. The party took place in the near future. A radio concert, games and dice were enjoyed during the evening. Vocal numbers were given by the Misses Loretta Selig, Mable Kruse, Vanila Krueger and Clarence Lembecke. Those present were: Misses Frances Koehn, Emma Roehl, Mabel Kruse and Lauretta Selig of Appleton; Misses Vanila Krueger, Kaukauna; Misses Catherine Geniesse and Minnie Van Rye, Kimberly; Clarence Lembecke and Norman Johnson, Appleton.

Members of the staff of the Lawrence College publication held an informal dancing party Friday evening at All Saints hall. Beethoven's 3 piece orchestra furnished the music.

Members of the Sunday school class of First Congregational church conducted by Carl Sherry held a supper at 6 o'clock Friday evening at the boys clubrooms of the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Marie Smits entertained a number of friends Wednesday evening at her home in Kimberly. The evening was spent playing games and dancing. The guests included: Miss Mildred Kobs, Appleton; Miss Jennie Borbon, Darby; and the Misses Helen Busch, Agnes Kuborn, Marie Fox, Laura Veyenberg, Johanna Johnson, Alvina Van Landeghen and Christine Allen; Ernest and Ed Krueger, Little Chute; Richard Kamke, Darby; Ed Mentzel, Otto, William and Fred Harke, Joseph and Matt Valentyne, Arthur Vogel, John Smith, Arthur De Wit and Christ Daulwyk, Kimberly. Prizes at games were won by Arthur De Wit and Richard Kamke, and Mildred Kobs and Marie Fox.

Humor Is Plentiful In Parish Play

There is plenty of humor in "Clarence," the Booth Tarkington play that the Columbian club of St. Mary parish will present Nov. 16 and 17 in Columbia hall. It is one of Tarkington's most successful plays and is one that will please all types of people. The scenes between Bobby and Cora, portrayed by Lester Balliet and Evelyn Long, are some of the funniest in the play. Bobby and Cora are typical, modern girl and boy of high school age and quarrel and spat as sisters and brothers usually do to show the proper affection which they hold for one another.

Cora is petulant and spoiled, romantic and clever and in love with Clarence, who is played by George Bellew, and pours out on him all the affection he can stand.

Bobby is anxious to impress people with his complete understanding of all world affairs and wants to be fashionable and correct.

The leading roles in the play are taken by George Bellew who is Clarence, and Lucille Fitzsimmons, who takes the part of Violet Finney, the governess hired to lead Cora in the straight and narrow path. Bobby believes himself in love with Violet.

Other characters in the play are Mr. Wheeler, the worried father of Cora and Bobby, who is irritable and worried, believing that he carries the burden of the world on his shoulders. Harold McGowan takes this part. Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Wheeler's young and attractive wife, superior, haughty and jealous, is played by Margaret Thompson.

Della, the attractive little Irish maid in the Wheeler household, and Dinwiddie, the butler, both in olive, are played by Louise Ryan and Walter Fountain. Mr. Stein, in the person of George Hoefel, is a successful business man, hot-headed and conceited, who also is infatuated with the charms of Violet.

How This Woman Got Strength

Put Up 300 Quarts Fruit, 500 Glasses Jelly and Took Care of Four Children

Norwalk, Ia.—"I have been meaning for some time to write and tell you how I got my strength back. I had good your medicine has done me. When I started to take it I was almost bed fast and would have been in bed all the time if I had had any one to care for my children. There was so much swelling and pain that I could hardly take a step. I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and found that so healing. I am not entirely well yet for I was in bad shape when I started your medicine, but I am so much better that I am not afraid to recommend it, and I cure if I keep on taking it. It will cure me. I have done my work all alone this summer, caring for four children, and I canned 300 quarts of fruit and made 500 glasses of jelly, so you see I must be better. I feel pretty good all the time and I am glad to tell others about the medicine."—Mrs. C. J. WENNERMARK, Box 141, Norwalk, Iowa.

Woman can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Store That Quality Built

Quality is a rare attribute. Good things are few and far between. But when one Jewelry House has started from "a small beginning" and has risen since to a position of leadership, there has been and is a clear recognition by the public that within its corporate boundaries Quality is to be found. No mere clever merchandising or jobbing scheme could be accountable; a steady growth is clear indication of constant growth in favor and trust.

To have inspired in nearly the whole community through years of conscientious service, a feeling of implicit confidence is a considerable success. But never once to have had this confidence misplaced is a more appreciable achievement.

Can we not serve you as we have served so many other substantial families quietly, easily and economically.

JOKER IN WARRANT FREES PAIR CAUGHT WITH HUGE STILLS

Walter Koop and Martha Koop Are Given Release on Technicality

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca.—The case of the state against Walter Koop and Martha Koop to be tried in circuit court this term has been dismissed and the charge dropped. This came about through a technicality of the law in which the search warrant was improperly issued.

This case attracted wide attention at the time of the arrest of the Koop couple. One of the very largest outfits for distilling moonshine ever found in central Wisconsin was discovered in the second floor of the Koop home at White Lake. The still consisted of nine separate units operated by oil stoves and occupied the entire second floor. Two barrels of moonshine and eight or ten barrels of mash were also taken. A photograph of the distilling apparatus was taken at the time.

Walter Kamp, tried on a statutory charge, was given a verdict of not guilty after a deliberation of two hours by a jury upon which five women sat.

FIRST CONSIDER
AMOUNT YOU WISH TO SPEND ON RADIO

Decide on the Performance of Your Set and Local Limitations

In considering buying a radio set the first question to be settled is: "How much money do you want to spend?" The second is: What kind of performance do you want? The third is: "What limitations are imposed by location or desire?" In many cases one of the questions is related to the other and they will be discussed in that way.

In regard to the money question, one may spend any amount from $15 to $5,000 in purchasing a radio set. For $15 a crystal set may be bought, together with a pair of headphones, and wire for antenna and ground and programs can be heard from all stations within a twenty-five mile radius. Extra headphones may be bought and hooked up in a series, so that other members of the family can hear.

The next jump is to about $40, for which a single tube set may be purchased and installed ready to work. With such a set distant stations may be heard, some 500 or more miles away, but they must be heard with headphones rather than with loud speakers.

The cheapest loud speaker receiving set is one in which the entire family may listen without headphones, to the broadcasts of local stations (those within a radius of forty miles) costs about $65, including a satisfactory loud speaker. Those who make a habit of reading the advertisements of radio manufacturers may register surprise, because for example they have seen listed something like this: "Two-tube radio receiving set $13.50." There is such a set, and it is a good set for the price asked and couldn't be sold for such a small sum if the manufacturer had not adopted machine methods of production made familiar by Henry Ford.

Taking the $13.50 set as the basis unit, $3 must be spent for the tubes; $10 for a storage battery, $10 for antenna and ground wire, insulators, clamps, etc., $3 for "B" batteries, $5 for headphones and $10 for a loud speaker. The total is $75.50.

Having spent the money, nearly-broadcasts can be put on the loud speaker and stations up to 1,000 miles away, under favorable conditions, can be heard on the headphones.

A varying figure, several makes of three-tube sets can be purchased at prices which will enable an expenditure for the extras needed and still keep within the $100 limit. The addition of extra tubes increases amplification and also gives the set a greater range, both on the loud speaker and on the headphones.

The Appleton Electric Company carries a complete stock of sets, parts and supplies.

SIMPLE OPERATION OF PARAMOUNT SET

The construction and operation of this radio equipment is so simple that it is not necessary to be an electrical expert or to understand the technical construction involved, in order to share in the enjoyment, and to receive the benefit brought to you by "Paramount" Radio.

Fundamental Armstrong regenerative single circuit is used. Two variometer type. Feed-back variometer close coupled to primary. Proper proportioned as regards wire size, and inductance to properly tune all tubes of various capacities. Arranged so that only two controls are necessary.

WAVE LENGTH OF 150 to 650 meters, providing for new government allocation.

THE PANEL is heavy Formica, 5 1/2 x 11 1/2 inches, highly polished, recessed in front of cabinet. Gorton engraved. Shielded by aluminum sheet, eliminating all body capacity. Condenser is provided with short switch adjustment for long or short antenna.

THE CABINET is solid mahogany, beautifully polished satin finish. Flexible connections on all rotating inductance limited by mechanical stops to 150 degrees. All tube type. Carefully insulated.

All contacts are made on by lead-on back of cabinet. Radios have heavy Formica Full, curved, showing proper connections.

Especially molded, gracefully tapered dial, allowing easy manipulation.

VERTICALLY — Permits precision of adjustment of capacity and selectivity. No difficulty from interference.

AMPLIFIER is a Transformer in the ratio of 5 to 1. Shell type, eliminating bowing by magnetic leakage. Provided with 4 1/2 volt "C" battery to secure maximum amplification. Variable grid leak furnished. All fixed condensers mica insulated.

Three tubes are used.

The Paramount Junior and the Paramount Senior Sets are on display at the Kamps Jewelry Store.

Radiola VIII Improved
To Limit Of Knowledge

Radiola Super VIII is a six-Radiola non-radiating broadcast receiver, employing the Super-Heterodyne—second harmonic—principle in a more sensitive and greatly simplified design. The beautiful cabinet contains the operating mechanism, a newly developed loud speaker, a concealed loop which may be rotated by a panel control knob and space for all the necessary batteries. It has two tuning controls, vernier operated, a loop control, a battery and a volume control. New inventions make the six Radiolons employed deliver results equal to sets having eight or nine tubes.

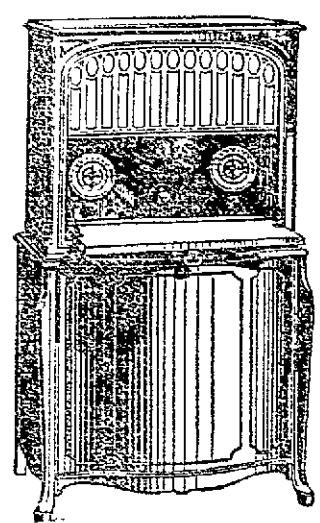

The peer of all Radiolas, Radiola Super VIII is particularly designed for use where an extremely high degree of selectivity is absolutely imperative. The Super-Heterodyne principle, improved beyond any comparison to previously existent designs, provides super-selectivity, enabling one to tune in distant stations under the shadow of a local broadcast station.

Having decided upon the Super-Heterodyne principle, they set about to improve this circuit to the very limits of technical knowledge of this time. The circuit has undergone some radical changes and improvements with the result that we now offer the public a marvelous combination of sensitivity, selectivity and quality reproduction, known as Radiola Super VIII.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY

Radiola Super VIII, both in cabinet and panel, presents a handsome appearance. It contains a beautiful piece of furniture that will contribute to the charm of any room. The master touch of the designing artists is nowhere more evident than in the loud speaker opening of the cabinet, which resembles, in motif and contour, a stage—a world stage, if you will, which, with its kaleidoscope revue of entertainment, is brought to the living room in this masterpiece of its radio art. This Super VIII can be operated with either dry or wet batteries.

Radiola Super VIII, Radiola V, Radiola III and Radiola Reginaflex are sold by the Meyer-Seeger Music Co.

TWO INSTRUMENTS
ARE INCLUDED IN BRUNSWICK PRODUCT

Radiola and Phonograph Assure Full Measure of Enjoyment

The Brunswick Radiola is a manufactured product that combines in one instrument the "Music of the Air" by Radio and the "Music of One's Choice" on the Phonograph, representing a new standard of achievement, which has been developed only thru careful research and experimentation of the engineers of The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., collaborating with those of the Radio Corporation of America.

The Brunswick Radiola combines, in one product, the Brunswick Method of Reproduction with the tested receiving equipment of the Radio Corporation of America. This instrument is decidedly different from the ordinary combination of a phonograph and radio receiving set. It is a manufactured unit, with a product of the acknowledged leader in the radio field, the Radio Corporation of America, built directly in the product of the foremost manufacturer of phonographs. For this reason the Brunswick Radiola may be operated easily and conveniently by individuals who do not possess technical knowledge, as well as by trained technicians.

The application of the Brunswick Method of Reproduction, to radio reception, by the creation of a special double-purpose tone amplifier, added to the Brunswick oval wood horn, joined to the Brunswick Radiola, a decidedly superior tone quality. And now, one may secure a product that provides the widest scope of musical entertainment in an instrument that will completely harmonize with the appointments of a beautiful home.

The Radiola Super-Heterodyne is the latest and greatest achievement in radio. The Super-Heterodyne in these types of Brunswick Radiolas is a sensitive frequency receiver, utilizing the second harmonic principle—the second harmonic oscillator, yet simplified for everyone's operation. Only two tuning controls require manipulation to bring in local as well as far distant stations. Selectivity maintained by other known principles is provided. It enables one to select from programs of the distant stations when operating the set. Distant stations are in operation. This is a selectivity feature that is provided by any other known combination of tuning methods.

A non-radiating receiver, an entirely new development in radio reception—a type which no matter how handled will not interfere with a neighbor's enjoyment.

These children are of unusual beauty, harmonizing with the most characteristic tastes in home furnishing and decoration. Best of all, its beauty in the home is not marred by unsightly ground and antenna wires, for a loop antenna is hidden in the inner end panel of the cabinets and no earth connection is needed. All the batteries are concealed in the rear of the cabinets.

The more turn of the Lever Control one may secure both the "Music of the Air" by Radio, or the "Music of One's Choice" on the Phonograph. The Brunswick patented oval wood oval horn is the so-called "loudspeaker" and provides superlative tone quality.

Thousands of People Visited Philco Booth at Madison Square Garden

Never before has the saying "show me" been illustrated as well as at the First World's Radio Show at Madison Square Garden, New York, during the last week in September.

From the time the doors were thrown open to the public at 11 o'clock it took the combined efforts of everyone in the Philco booth to answer all the queries that were flung at them and to keep the Philco exhibition from being torn apart.

Everyone wanted to see—to handle the batteries—to throw the switch—to push the plug in the socket. The expert, the amateur, the young, the old, they all wanted a finger in the pie and—get this straight—they were not curiosity seekers. They were buyers.

Philco Rechargeable Radio Storage Batteries deliver strong, uniform, non-ripping current, without hum, roar or buzz—an absolute essential for clear, unbroken, long-distance radio reception.

Here is a rechargeable storage "B" Battery with all the advantages of the famous glass-cased Philco Drynamic Storage "A" Batteries.

It has mahogany-finished cabinet, beautiful and decorative, a charge indicator, exclusive Philco "A" feature that tells all conditions of charge and discharge. No more bothering with old-fashioned hydrometer—or guess-work charging.

It has a tremendous capacity. Needs recharging only once this remarkable new Philco "B" Battery two or three months—refilling with water only once or twice a season.

You'll want to know more about this remarkable new Philco "B" Battery. Also Philco Radio "A" Batteries. See them at Jinnin's Radio Service Station, Washington St.—in the Langstadt-Meyer Bldg.

RADIO CORP OF AMERICA
MAKES SUPER RECEIVER

The growth of Radio for the past year has been tremendous. Today this infant business ranks with the largest industries of our country and Radio has become an important and influential part in the home life of the nation. For millions of people, radio has opened up avenues of pleasure unobtainable before. To millions of people, radio is bringing each day the best that is to be had in music, drama, lectures, world news—all of which is available to the owner of a reliable receiving set.

The outstanding Models of the Radiola line are the Radiola Super VIII the Super-Heterodyne, the Radiola X and the Radiola Reginaflex. The Super VIII and the Super Heterodyne require no outside antenna while the Radiola X and the Reginaflex Receivers are of the antenna type.

A complete line of all the Models are in stock at the Show Rooms of the Meyer-Seeger Music Co. Besides the Radiolas may be had in the Sonora, a combination of Sonora, Phonograph and Radiola.

FIVE TUBE NEUT
EASY TO BUILD
AND BIG SAVINGS

Simple Method Evolved by M. J. V. Fose Effects Saving of $100 on Set

To the average radio fan the construction of a radio set has been quite a difficulty. That is the laying out of panels, placing the different parts etc. which has been the ban on the "roll your own" variety of a receiver. These difficulties have been overcome together with a saving of—in some cases three times the usual price charged for this circuit—by a simple method of construction just perfected by M. J. V. Fose recently radio and construction Editor of the Post-Crescent and Green Bay Gazette and whose experience in the radio and telegraph field is known to many in this vicinity.

Perfecting a picture blueprint system of construction which accompanies a kit containing all the essential parts that go in the makeup of a Genuine Five Tube Licensed Neutrodyne receiver from a drilled panel to the baseboard used in constructing this well known and popular circuit. The parts are all standard and guarantee to function and the plan has been tested carefully and it was found that a 10 year old boy that knew nothing whatever about radio could assemble this receiver and have it working efficiently in a few hours and in so doing could save a large amount that is regularly charged for the average Neutrodyne that is already constructed.

Beautiful In Appearance
Looks Like Factory Built Set

The kit contains every essential part, drilled panel, engraved, large dials engraved, tube sockets, Genuine Neutrodyne condensers—the last thing in condensers three licensed neutrodynes wound with silk covered wire on bakelite forms, two completely shielded transformers that are standard and guaranteed to give clear tones, baseboard, condensers, etc. even the bus bar wire is included in the kit.

The set is one of beauty when assembled and one can be proud to own one as well as having the opportunity of "making it." At a test of construction the complete set was assembled and ready to wire in less than a half hour.

The picture blueprint is lifelike that is the exact size of the parts and it can be either fastened on the baseboard and panel under the parts and the wiring followed out or it may be checked as each wire is put on.

For the man that wants a real "factory built" looking Neutrodyne set in appearance this kit of parts will make it and— at $50 to $100 less and will function just as efficiently as those selling at high prices.

The five tube Genuine Licensed Neutrodyne needs no introduction as the cost of the radio public knows its efficiency for volume clarity if proper parts are used and ease of tuning.

Mr. Fose says he can now offer a Genuine Neutrodyne to the people of this vicinity a really efficient and licensed five tube set at a price that is really unbelievable and the reason

BEST MATERIALS IN ATWATER-KENT SETS

Can't Find Better Workmanship or Radio Skill in Any Receivers

Atwater Kent Receiving Sets meet the demands of the buyer who wants definite and uniformly dependable results; distance, minimum of interference, volume and clear reception.

The radio experimenter, tinkering with a thousand "hookups," finds frustration, but might experiment a lifetime without achieving Atwater Kent results.

No material can be better than is found in Atwater Kent Radio—no workmanship finer and it is the last word in radio designing.

You must examine Atwater Kent radio to fully appreciate its value. It is an outstanding example of quality produced on principles adhered to in the manufacture of scientific electrical instruments for more than a quarter of a century.

You can select any Atwater Kent Radio equipment—receiving sets or loud speakers and look forward to freedom from doubt as to the wisdom of your choice.

The smooth, mellow tones of an Atwater Kent Loud Speaker will please you—you will be delighted with the fidelity with which it reproduces broadcasts.

It is a faithful sound reproducer, and recreates the full overtones of voice and violin.

Atwater Kent Loud Speakers have an adjustable diaphragm operated by a powerful magnet which has been thoroughly aged. The diaphragm is slightly dished and is clamped between rubber rings.

Atwater Kent Loud Speakers are sturdily constructed from the fine operating mechanism to the heavily pressed steel bell. The base is substantial and is protected with a heavy felt disc.

The design and construction of the Atwater Kent Loud Speaker is the result of painstaking research; of almost endless tests and experiments—it sets a new standard in the production of loud speakers.

Sets, Loud Speakers and parts are now on display at the West Side Tire Shop.

he can do this is by eliminating the wiring and assembling and by contracting for 500 to 1,000 sets at a time which gives every fan a chance to own one of these efficient sets at a price within reason.

Not a Chilled Radio Frequency Set

There are many sets selling at a low price called radio frequency sets which should not be confused with the Genuine Neutrodyne as they do not compare in volume and efficiency with the real Genuine Hazeltine Neutrodyne.

Some of the people do not care to construct a radio set and for those who do not wish to assemble Air Fose has arranged to have the complete set wired at a small charge. Mr. Fose will gladly show the parts all assembled and ready to wire to those that are interested in a kit of this sort and to those wishing to save some real money on a set that is already built up.

Two Ways To Stop Howling
In Neighbor's Radio Set

BY H. WEIMAR

A blooper is an owner of a regenerative set who operates it in such a manner as to cause whistles or howls in neighboring receiving sets, in other words he causes the set to radiate.

It is safe to say that 99 out of every 100 regenerative sets are operated improperly. Anyone can easily verify this statement by observing how the next regenerative set he hears is tuned. If the operator tunes the set by listening to the carrier waves, which will be manifested by whistles of varying pitch then that set is oscillating and is causing interference in neighboring receivers.

Here is what happens, suppose the operator has his set tuned to somewhere around 200 meters and has the tickler or regenerative dial set beyond the oscillation point (when the set goes into oscillation a pronounced click will be heard in the phones). At 200 meters the set is generating oscillations or waves of a frequency of 1,500,000 cycles per second.

Now suppose your neighbor is listening to a station whose wave length is slightly more than 200 meters or say a frequency of 1,499,000 cycles per second. The interfering from your set strikes your neighbor's antenna as well as those of the station he is listening to and a heterodyne action is set up between the two, causing a beat frequency equal to the difference in frequency of the two waves by a frequency of 1000 cycles per second. The beat frequency in this case is audible and will manifest itself in his set by a shrill whistle.

Now if the operator of the interfering set strikes his tickler dial the neighbor will get a good imitation of the hog section of the Chicago stock yards.

There are two ways of overcoming

NO TRICK AT ALL TO "TUNE IN" WITH KENNEDY RECEIVER

Selectivity and Distance Are Combined in Well-built Set

Long development and experimental work in the Kennedy factory has finally produced in the Model XV a radio receiver that anyone can operate regardless of whether he or she has ever operated a set of any kind before.

The controls necessary are reduced to a minimum and are so connected that even though no previous instructions have been given, anyone can tune in and receive different stations without one interfering with the other; something that can be done with few other five tube tuned Radio frequency receivers. The Model XV Kennedy set uses but two controls. These are always the same for any given station. It is only necessary to log the setting for one dial.

The set is constructed on a rugged aluminum frame minimizing the chance of anything getting out of alignment and causing trouble. It has the familiar Kennedy sloping panel that makes for easy tuning. Controls are symmetrically placed and the unit is mounted in a solid mahogany cabinet with piano finish. The Model XV will positively "go through" the locals and pick up distant stations, regardless of where the set may be. A Kennedy set was used to receive the first and only successful radio dance ever held in Appleton. A Kennedy Model XV installed at Fishers Appleton theatre has received a broadcast from an English broadcasting station. Kennedy sets have been sold in Appleton longer than any other set. Kennedy sets are sold and serviced exclusively by the Appleton Radio shop, Appleton's exclusive radio shop.

Two of the many things which are helping to sell Westinghouse Batteries are the untarnished name of Westinghouse and an eighteen months' insured service.

est infant of the Westinghouse family the same traditions are carried forward. We want to be fair to the customer. Every report of replacement which leaves your office is your word of honor that the statements contained therein are true to the best of your knowledge and belief.

Westinghouse Batteries are the best that skilled engineers and perfectly equipped shops can produce, but they are not infallible. Occasionally a flaw is found—something which has slipped past a corps of skilled inspectors. When it is found Westinghouse will make it good.

As a means of preventing further errors of the same kind we have asked you to fill in a report of replacement which you mail to your district distributor, who in turn sends it to us. We must have your co-operation to perfect an almost perfect product.

Every replacement costs the company a definite sum of money, all of which is a loss and, naturally, we are very anxious to minimize this loss as much as possible, and what is more, we can do it with your co-operation. Don't allow a customer who has willfully abused a battery to browbeat you into giving him a brand new battery simply because it isn't costing you anything—look at it from the other side. No man thinks any the more of you because you refuse to give him his own way when he knows in his heart that his way is wrong.

PUBLIC INVITED TO MASSMEETING AT M. E. CHURCH
Dr. M. A. Honline, Conference Speaker, Will Give Afternoon Address

Appleton people will be given a chance to share in the program of the state young people's conference now in session here through a massmeeting that has been arranged particularly for them at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church. The entire Appleton public is invited. One of the best speakers of the conference, Dr. M. A. Honline of Pasadena, Calif., will give the address on Science and the Bible. This speech is one that he has made before many audiences and is an unusual presentation of the subject. Music will be furnished by the Methodist quartet, the numbers including the Lord's Prayer chant, the anthem "I Will Exult Thee" (Costa), and a solo by Carl McKee, "Consider and Hear Me" (Pfugner). The Rev. E. M. Salter of the Baptist church will offer the opening prayer and Dr. Virgil Scott of Memorial Presbyterian church, the benediction.

The public also is invited to the last meeting of the conference at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 7:30 Sunday evening. Dr. P. W. Hayward of Chicago, and Dr. M. A. Honline will be the speakers. This afternoon meeting is entirely unseparated from the conference, as the young people have their own session at the same hour at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

ON THE SCREEN

AT THE ELITE MY BIGGEST THRILL
By George Lardin, Star of "Saved by Radio"

I have been in the movies for, gosh, I don't know how many years. Since it was first started and long before Rodolph Valentino and Wallace Reid ever dreamed of going into this game. "I've acted in serials where my life wasn't worth a nickel sometimes; jumping off railroad engines, racing in autops, fighting with ruffians, and I was even in cages with lions and tigers. But believe me, all of the stunts I ever did were tame compared with what I had to go through in "Saved by Radio."

A fellow by the name of Berrien had the nerve to make me jump off his hydroaeroplane while it was going at the speed of seventy-five miles per hour, into a motor boat below. Maybe you think that wasn't a thrill—well, just ask another movie hero to try it once, even if he is a daredevil—I'm not saying a word.

See me in "Saved by Radio," coming to the Elite Theatre Sunday and witness how I got away with it. Between you and I it sure was no joke.

"HORSEBACK DINNERS" IS NOVEL FILM SCENE
Many blooded horses are used in First National's forthcoming feature, "In Every Woman's Life," which will be the main attraction at the Elite Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among the scenes is one never before attempted in motion pictures—a dinner on horseback. Fifty thoroughbreds are used in this scene. They are grouped around a horseshoe of flowers and held in place by grooms. On the back of the horses are seated men and women in evening dress, partaking of a dinner served on panniers suspended from their necks by ribbons.

Virginia Valli will be seen in the leading role of this unusual love drama of society life, with Marc Mac Dermott, Stuart Holmes, Lloyd Hughes, George Fawcett, John Sainpolis and other favorites in support.

FAMOUS PLAY IS IDEAL PICTURE
Fred Stillwater, railroad magnate, called his palatial country residence the "branch house," but he had no belittling designation for his daughter. He considered her the greatest of his treasures. Many patrons of the spoken stage have found Indiana Stillwater as her relatives and friends considered her, and in the near future the number of her admirers will be multiplied.

Indiana Stillwater is the sprightly and fascinating heroine of "Her Lord and Master," a highly entertaining and entraining comedy drama by Thornton Wilder, which has been visualized as an Allen Joyce Vitaphone production. It will be shown at the New Bijou theatre on Monday.

Indiana, an only child, has been somewhat spoiled by her fond parents and knows it. In confessing her love for the Right Hon. Thurston Ralph, Viscount Canning, and promising to marry him she exacts a singular promise. She demands the assurance that as her husband he will do everything to cure her of her wilfulness and other faults. Instead of loving them because they are hers, Thurston keeps the promise under strenuous circumstances, though he feels that in doing so he may be sacrificing his life's happiness.

Artery Jumpers Set New Record For Arrests Here

The largest number of arrests ever made in one month in Appleton were marked down on the police blotter of the Appleton police station last month. The total was only three short of the 100 mark. Arterial highway passers contributed 74 of the 97 arrests, according to the monthly report of Chief George T. Pahn.

Other arrests were classified as follows: Driving an automobile while intoxicated 2, larceny as bailee 1, drunkenness 6, jumping board bills 1, speeding 3, lewd and lascivious conduct 1, wife and child abandonment 1, driving an automobile without a license 3, parking in restricted area 2, placing merchandise in front of a store for sale or advertisement 1.

CIVIC CLUBS INVITE EDUCATOR TO SPEAK

Dean Thompson, University of Illinois, Coming for Joint Luncheon

Dr. Charles M. Thompson, dean of the college of commerce and business administration of the University of Illinois, has been engaged as speaker for the second of four joint dinners of Appleton civic clubs—scheduled for Monday, Nov. 24. Arrangements are in charge of the Lions club, and the others who will attend are members of the chamber of commerce and Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. The dinner will be held at noon at Conway hotel and the other clubs will dispense with their luncheons for that week.

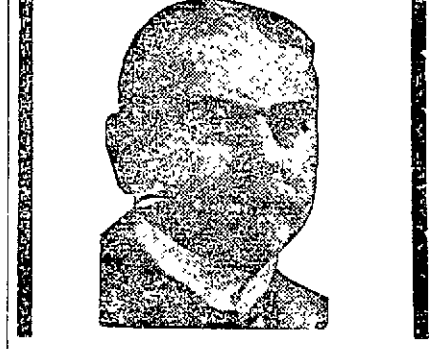

Dean Thompson not only is one of the leading officials of the University of Illinois but is keenly interested in civic activities as well. He is president of the Rotary club at Urbana and is training 18 seniors of the university to be chamber of commerce secretaries.

His subject for the dinner here has not been announced but he probably will speak on new phases of the question of taxation. He is an expert on taxation matters but is able to keep the distance from academic language and technical terms when he presents the subject to an audience.

SIX WOMEN SERVE ON CIRCUIT JURY IN WAUPACA COURT

Statutory Case Is First on Docket—Olen Has Big Lead in Election

Waupaca—Circuit court for Waupaca commenced in earnest Thursday morning after a session Wednesday night in which a minor civil case was heard before Judge Byron Parks. The trial started Thursday morning was the state vs. Walter Kamp, charged with a statutory offense. O. L. Olen, district attorney appeared for the state and Attorney John C. Hart of Waupaca, represented the defendant. The jury selected includes Joseph Stadler, Jr., Manawa; Ella Jensen, Waupaca; Louis Johnson, Clintonville; George Lons, Bear Creek; Muriel Edwards, Waupaca; Irene Ro-man, Manawa; Estella Davis, McKeon; William Schoenick, Dupont; C. J. Swenson, Iola; E. M. Kistinger, Marion; Clara Dunphy, Waupaca (own Marie Gmelner, Waupaca).

Thursday noon three precincts were still missing in the unofficial results of the county election. One noticeable contest was that of district attorney. The incumbent, O. L. Olen, carrying the county by the largest vote of any candidate. There were 6,409 votes cast for Mr. Olen, as against 2,196 for the independent, George Classon. The contest for governor between Blaine and Cook gave Blaine more than 700 majority. He received 5,038 votes against 4,282 for Cook; George Mergers ran away from his independent opponent George Milford for assemblyman. The count stood 5,401 to 2,780; another independent that fell behind is M. A. Paulson for county treasurer, receiving 3,539 as compared to 3,697 for Leonard Stadler. La Pollette carried the county almost two to one for president, receiving 5,111, with 2,196 for Coolidge and 851 for Davis. The final game in the basketball tournament at the high school between class teams resulted in victory for the seniors over the juniors by a score of 16 to 10, giving the senior boys the school championship in basketball. The senior girls held the high honors in indoor baseball.

The public schools of the city were closed at noon on Wednesday for the balance of the week so as to permit the teachers to attend the state teacher's convention at Milwaukee Thursday and Friday.

Wednesday morning a party of three automobiles left Waupaca with St. Petersburg, Fla., as their destination. The party consisted of Edward R. Johnson and family, Charles Johnson and family of Waupaca and Frank Vaneck and family of Manawa. All will make a short stop in Chicago and New York, then proceed down the Atlantic coast to spend the winter in Florida, returning about May 1.

Frank Behnke of Weyauwega, injured in an auto accident on Sunday night, was still in a critical condition Wednesday at Christofferson hospital.

The Nervous Wreck

By E. J. Rath

"See, here's where we are," he explained, pointing a forefinger on the map. "You just follow the main road from here, going left, until you come to this road. Wait! I'll mark it for you. Then you follow the other road. It's little twisty, but you can't miss it. Keep right on the way I'm showing you until you come to this turn. You keep bearing to the right. That fetches you to another pike, and you follow that to the left. And there's the Bar-M, right in there."

The Wreck nodded and the judge folded the document again.

"It ain't over seventy miles at the outside," he added. "And most of the road is fair. Just hang onto that paper and you're all right. If you want to know whether you're married, read one side of it. If you want to know which way to go on your honeymoon, turn it over. That's what I call a modern and improved public document, useful in more ways than one. Ain't that so, Bob?"

But the sheriff was striding down the trail in the direction of the horse.

"Well, good luck, folks," said the judge, as he shook hands. "The posse's got official business on its hands. I reckon it ought to be easier than rolling flivvers."

Sally and the Wreck were left alone. They stood silently until the last member of the posse disappeared. Then the Wreck looked at her awkwardly, coughed, reddened, and kicked at a stone that lay in the trail. Suddenly he walked over to the flivver and cranked it.

"Get in," he said.

She got in, settled herself in the seat and stared ahead of her.

They followed the pike for nearly an hour, until they came to a road that crossed it. No word was spoken. He fumbled with the engine, jammed the brakes. He began to fustigate. He became abruptly valuable, without any clear idea of what he was saying.

"Now don't you worry a particle. It's my fault, every bit of it. Of course, I hadn't any business to put—but I just couldn't help it. That's all. I was dreaming. I guess I got crazy notions. I thought you'd be—well, anyhow it's my fault. And I'm sorry; that is, if you're sorry. If you're not—but what's the use of talking about that? I'll do my best, you just see. I'll work my head off for you. I'll do anything. Who wouldn't? You give me a chance, that's all. I'll go back to Pittsburgh and I'll make a million dollars for you. I'll give you anything in the world you want. All I want is a chance. I tell you: You just watch me. And I'll make good, too. I've got to make good. You're the finest—well, anyhow, I'm going to make you happy if it breaks my neck. And make a fortune, too. Just try me, that's all. I'll make good, as sure as your name's Sally Morgan."

She turned to him with a faint smile on her lips.

"But my name isn't Sally Morgan," she said.

"Tut! Why—that's right. I forgot." His speech became lame again.

"Well that's how I feel, anyway." She studied him for several seconds then laid a firm, warm hand over one of his, where it rested on the wheel.

"Old-timer," she said gently, "you don't need all those words to say it in."

"But I wanted you to understand."

"Perhaps I do."

"But you don't. What I wanted you to understand was—"

His voice suddenly rose to a shout. "Well, anyhow, I love you!"

Sally's fingers closed around his. "Now you're talking, Henry Williams," she said, contentedly.

The swooped on her.

It was minutes afterward when Sally freed herself, half laughing, half crying. There was a strange wonderful look in her eyes as she surveyed him—a look of proud, absurdly happy possession. There he was, with his horn-rimmed spectacles, his quaint, his old challenging air of defiance—Henry Williams, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Nervous Wreck—but all hers.

"And I do love you," he was saying, belligerently.

"Of course," said Sally. "But it took you so long—"

He swooped again, expertly, for the Wreck was a quick student.

"There," exclaimed Sally. "Now you'd better get out and crank the flivver, or we'll never make the Bar-M tonight."

"But I want you to understand—"

"You dear idiot, I understood long ago."

The Bar-M lay before them, almost at their feet. The ranch buildings huddled close to the ridge on the eastern side of the wide coulee, and the flivver was poised at the top of the ridge. Into the hills beyond the sun was dipping. To the north lay the summit of Black Top. Nearly home.

"I'm afraid we ought to have stuck to the road," said Sally.

The Wreck had insisted on cutting across the range, when they reached a point opposite the Bar-M coulee.

"Miles around the other way," he said. "And here we are, almost there."

"But it's pretty steep, Henry."

She looked down the long green slope with calculating eye.

"It's nothing," said the Wreck. "Just watch."

The flivver dipped into the grade, slowly at first, then with growing speed. It was traveling like a wild thing.

The Wreck had the service brake jammed down as far as it would go. He hauled back on the emergency brake. The flivver plumed onward, her brake hands screaming and smoking.

"We're going to hit something!" cried the Wreck.

Sally opened her eyes.

"Don't hit the kitchen!" she cried. "Ma's in there! Hit the corral!"

He could at least steer, and he did. They hit the corral. A section of fence flew into kindlings and the flivver charged onward. The sorrel horse, directly in its path, lifted his head, snorted, whistled, leaped out with his heels and missed it by inches. The fence on the further side loomed. There was a second crash, a lurch, a splintering of various things. The flivver stopped.

Don't Shield Your Child From Knocks

"The trouble with a lot of parents is that they try so hard to protect their children from some of the hardships they themselves went through that the kids never really get initiated into life."

This was what the family doctor pointed out to Mr. Mann of Anytown one day when they were talking about children and parents.

There is a great tendency upon the part of parents who have had a hard time of it in youth to throw too much of a fence about their offspring. So carefully guarded are many of these children that they have no opportunity to engage in the ordinary play so necessary to youth. This is a grave mistake and one that will result more or less seriously.

The parents were, in all probability reared on plain foods. But not for their youngsters! The second generation finds his platter surrounded with great varieties of food made possible by present day shipping conditions.

And yet many wonder why the children do not grow up to be as sturdy as the parents. The answer is simple too much indulgent Guard against this!

"Why Ruth, you have been describing a regular vampire," I exclaimed. "How you must dislike Sally Atherton!"

"No," answered Ruth. "Sally Atherton is not the conventional vamp, for she would brush a man out of her way as quickly as she would a woman, if either stood in her path for the coveted goal not only of love but of any other ambitions."

"But, Ruth," I expostulated, "that is the accepted idea of a woman since Kipling wrote the poem 'A Fool There Was.' We all agree that the vamp feeds upon both men and women, and considers walking on the faces of her friends her most noble indoor sport and a pleasant pastime."

Ruth did not even smile at my flippancy. She said very seriously: "Oh, I know all that, Leslie, and I do not think such women are wholly to be blamed. They just made so that they have no understanding of their duty toward any one or anything except themselves."

"You have told me much of Sally Atherton's life with her husband, and it seems to me that ill-fated marriage has crystallized her hardness and determination to have her own way and live her own life at any cost, not only to others but to herself."

"She has seen so much selfishness in others that she has come to the conclusion that it is only the selfish person that gets what he wants. You and I, my dear, know better than that."

"I oughtn't to take any great pride to myself for my own marriage, for I made a great mess of it. I tried to be a good wife to Harry—you know that, Leslie. Although I came in for a great deal of very kind gossip because of Walter Burke, yet you also know that when a man neglects his wife there is always some man in the offing that is perfectly willing to make it up to her. Harry never had a man friend except Jack—that did not tell me that I was a fool to trust my husband, and intimate to me that he was much more trustworthy."

"Yes, I will make another exception, and it may seem strange to you. That exception was Walter. Walter was friendly to me, he was kind to me, but he never made love to me until after Harry ran away with that other woman."

Ruth liked my bobbed hair very much. Little Marquise, in fact, every one does, and I think after Jack gets used to it he'll like it very much himself. Isn't it a queer thing that a man thinks his wife belongs to him to such an extent that he can tell her when and how to cut her hair, or rather when she shall not cut her hair?

I'm going to take Ruth's advice, dear little Marquise, and wait a little and see what will turn up in regard to the pearls. At least I shall wait until after Walter Burke returns and find out whether Ruth will keep the shop.

Meanwhile I'm going to have a great big society function to celebrate my third anniversary.

Profiles Are Amazing Mirrors Of Character

BEATRIX SHERMAN AND HER SILHOUETTE OF THE PRINCE OF WALES

New York.—Oh, what is so rare as a perfect profile?

"Positively nothing," replies Beatrix Sherman, silhouette artist.

In her profession, this shortcoming is particularly lamentable, for it takes a nifty profile to look well in black and white. She has cut silhouettes of nearly all the famous beauties of our day, and about 15,000 other women who couldn't qualify in that class. And up to date she has found just one perfect profile.

Her hunting ground has not been limited to United States. She has scoured for perfection in South America, Europe, Canada and Mexico, as well.

"Beautiful eyes, yes, thousands of them," she says. "Perfect Grecian and piquant pug noses by the score. Mouths that formed the most divine and dangerous of Cupid's bows—but never complete collection of beautiful outlines on one face."

FOUND PERFECT PROFILE
"Then when I once did find the perfect profile—absolutely flawless, the woman wasn't beautiful at all. She would have had a hard time getting past the office boy in a theatrical manager's office and certainly wouldn't have a look-in at a bathing beauty contest. And so I gave up devoting all my life to profiles and decided to go back to miniatures and portraits as well."

Miss Sherman has made such a study of feminine features that she can usually tell at a glance just what particular part of the country a woman comes from. Often she can name the particular city.

"The girl from the middle west," she confided, "has clear cut features but a certain lack of self-confidence that is always noticeable when she is out of her environment."

"The southern girl is all confidence under her feminine wiles. Usually she has a pug nose and red vivid lips. The western girl has a distinctive carriage and walk. Her walk is as different from her eastern sister as her accent and way of wearing her clothes."

CAN READ CHARACTER
"As you study features you will find there is a mental characteristic for each physical outline. It is actually possible to read character and judge human nature without exchanging a word with your subject."

"When I meet a woman with a large nose, I know she will be jovial and easily entertained. She'll be fair in her judgments too. Show me a girl with a short upper lip and an attractive mouth, an evening gown to be worn under a mink evening cape."

BROWN LACE POPULAR
Brown lace is very much liked for dinner gowns, worn over a slip of the same color or one of gold cloth.

A SMART COAT
A very smart coat of black cashmere has a white lining that is stitched in black and collar and cuffs of white flannel.

FASHION HINTS

GIVES COMFORT

The newest tube frocks and straight skirts give the necessary width for walking by a flatly ironed plait in the back from the hem to just above the knee, which is almost invisible except when walking. This makes them comfortable as well as smart.

HIGH COLLARS

Some of the new smocks for dress-up occasions have high collars and open for several inches between the shoulder blades in the back.

PICTURESQUE GOWN

Nile green satin, very heavy and clingy, makes a most picturesque gown.

Adventures Of The Twins

WHAT MOTHER GOOSE SAID

Daddy Gander and the Twins left the Green Wizard's house in the tree-tops to look for the House-That-Jack-Built.

"Good bye," called the Green Wizard. "If everything comes out all right send me word."

"We will," they promised as they sailed away on Daddy Gander's dust-pan.

"There's Jack's house now!" cried Nancy. "Right there on that white cloud ahead of us."

"Why, so it is," declared Nick. "It looks as though the cloud had gotten inside and was sticking out of the windows."

"That's the dough that Mrs. John set to raise," said Daddy Gander. "Don't you remember? Mrs. John's head-sponge kept rising until it raised the house clear off its foundation and carried it up to the sky."

Daddy Gander guided his dust-pan until it came right close up beside the house.

And who should come around the corner but Mother Goose on her broom.

"Hello, Daddy," cried Mother Goose. "I thought I left you far home to look after things while I was away. And what's this house doing up here and what's all this stuff sticking out of the windows?"

Daddy Gander told her the whole story, then, how poor Jack and Jill and Mrs. John had no place to live and all about the bread sponge and everything.

"A pretty kettle of fish!" cried Mother Goose, giving the handle of her broom a jab through the window right into the dough.

"You mean a pretty painful of bread," laughed Nancy. "But it won't do any good to poke it unless you have the magic fork. That is the only thing that will let the air out so the house can go down."

"The magic fork!" cried Mother Goose. "The magic fork! Where have I heard about that recently? I heard someone saying:

"Oh magic fork I'd like a treat. Please see what you can find to eat."

"Yes, yes, yes! That's it!" cried the Twins. "Can't you remember more? Oh do try to think where it was."

Mother Goose thought and thought. "Let me see," she said. "I was ascending a dusty cloud right over a mountain top. In—in—Oh, I know! It was Yum Yum Land. Yes, that was where I heard of the magic fork. It was in Yum Yum Land."

"Where is Yum Yum Land?" asked Nancy.

"We'll find it never fear!" said Daddy Gander. "My magic dust-pan can find anything. We'll be starting right away. Don't wait supper for me, Mother Goose, go right ahead and eat when you get ready. I may be late."

"All right, Daddy," said Mother Goose. "I think the sky looks clean now and I'm going home and see if I can't do something for Jack and Jill and Mrs. John. Good bye."

She rode away in one direction on her broom, and Daddy Gander and the Twins rode away in the opposite direction on the magic dust-pan to find Yum Yum Land.

Pretty soon, in about an hour and six minutes, at half past a quarter to one, they saw Yum Yum Land far below them.

Away behind, still sitting on its cloud could be seen the House-That-Jack-Built.

Lawrence Resumes Heavy Drill Monday After Week's Rest

Homecoming Contest With Hamline Here Nov. 15 Will Be Last Home Game on Blue Schedule

Lawrence gridgers were without a game Saturday afternoon the only date open on their schedule. During the past week light drills were the order on Lawrence field, but Mack Catlin plans to start heavy workouts Monday in preparation for the homecoming game with Hamline here Nov. 15. Early in the season Lawrence was regarded as "easy pickings" but later developments proved the first conclusion false, and Catlin expects a hard fight.

Most of the drill periods during the week were devoted to passing. Numerous fumbles in the Carroll contest here last week cost the Lawrence team at least two more touchdowns, and it is Catlin's plan to eliminate this weakness before the Hamline tilt, which will be the last home game of the Blue squad.

The crowd at the Carroll game was the largest seen here in several years but with scores of old grads back for the homecoming to supplement the usual host of fans, it looks as though next Saturday would bring an even larger "gate." Advance ticket orders have been pouring in for some time and Appleton fans planning to attend the Hamline games will have to get their pastboards soon or be content with standing room.

CHANGE LINEUP
Several changes will be made in the starting lineup next week. With Olson center, and Cooke, and Harwood for the season because of the Midwest conference ruling regarding non-senior men, Hoelting has been worked out at end while either Hopke or Granger are ready to go in at center. Captain Jake Stoll whose leg was injured in the Iowa battle several weeks ago, was back in the game and ready to take his usual place at end against Hamline.

Not a Lawrence man was hurt in the Carroll fracas although the leaders were less fortunate. With the exception of the center and one end, the starting lineup in the Hamline game probably will be the same as last week.

Coming Champ

ALLEN HALL, JR.

Another champion is to be added to the list of three cushion titleholders according to a prophecy made by Charles C. Peterson, recognized as the leading developer of billiard material.

Peterson be it known, is the world's greatest trick shot holder of the red ball championship and short stop king. Hall recently won the mid-west tournament and is ready to pit his skill against the leaders. Unlike the balkline game, dominated by Hoppe three-cushions has had a half dozen champions in the last 10 years.

EASTERN SQUADS EMBARK ON FINAL LAP OF SCHEDULE

Princeton Meets Harvard, La-Fayette Battles Rutgers Saturday

By Associated Press
New York—The calm before the final storm of action in the football season came Saturday on eastern gridirons where Princeton and Harvard and LaFayette and Rutgers met in the two more important contests of a sparse program.

The Tiger-Crimson clash at Cambridge inaugurated the "Big Three" series. Rutgers, one of the six unbeaten eleven of the east was figured to lose to LaFayette. Lehigh, another unbeaten eleven, was to be tested by Holy Cross. Penn State and Carnegie Tech connected at State college Marquette, whose three year winning streak was broken last Saturday by Creighton, was to clash with Boston college.

Harvard entered the game a strong favorite over Princeton. Yale planned to play substitutes against Maryland. Penn meets Georgetown for the first time in 30 years. Syracuse clashed with West Virginia Wesleyan.

Army was called to play serious football to win from the University of Florida. Brown plays the Haskell Indians. Dartmouth takes on Boston University. Cornell faces Susquehanna and Columbia meets a rival in New York university.

Crossing Goal Five Times In Game Unusual

Chicago—The experts are delving into the football statistics in an effort to make some comparison with deeds of past stars and the play of Red Grange against Michigan.

So far they have been unable to find a game in which two major eleven participated where any player gave a greater exhibition of brilliant play than that of Grange.

In scoring five touchdowns and piling up a total of over 40 yards as his work for the day, he did more than all the other rivals of Michigan combined were able to do last season. Last year only one team, the Quinceo Marines, made up of former college stars, managed to score a touchdown against Michigan.

Exploits Of Grange Dwarf Hall's Plays

Back in 1911, a clean-cut, yellow-haired quarterback called the signals for Illinois against Minnesota in the closing game of the season. The 101-lb. crippled and concededly inferior in ability, faced the strong Gophers, who had only to beat them to have a clean title to the conference championship. Illinois on paper did not have the slightest kind of a chance.

This isn't the kind of story in which the underdog wins. Minnesota triumphed, but only by a hair. The Illinois rooters carried their players off the field on their shoulders, and they cheered no player more than the blond quarterback, for it was his coolheaded generalship, his kicking and his all-around work which had helped to bring victory so near.

On the Illinois stands, a nine-year old boy, with tears in his eyes, said to his father:

DREAM COMES TRUE
"I'm going to play quarterback on Illinois some day, just like brother 'Al'."

"Brother 'Al'" the quarterback in that 1911 game, was "Swede" Hall in those days. Now he is Attorney Albert L. Hall of Waukegan, Ill.

Childish dreams seldom come true. But today another clean-cut, yellow-haired quarterback is calling the signals as the fighting Illini gather in their famous "huddle." His name is Harry Hall and he is the same nine-year-old boy of 1911.

Harry Hall was a pretty good player in high school but he created no special furor on the Illinois freshman team, where he was tried at fullback. His weight was only 155 pounds. Everybody regarded him as just an average player—that is everybody but Bob Zuppke.

HALL IMPRESSED ZUPPKE
"Zup," busy as he was with his varsity, out of the corner of his eye

the team. He is a great defensive player and unerring in an interference. He can carry the ball if I'd let him—not a great back, but good enough to worry 'em. He can pass and kick as well as most players. But these are not his jobs."

Harry Hall has never made the headlines because in the Zuppke scheme he seldom carries the ball. But since the Michigan game, the middle west is talking about him. There is no more valuable quarter back in the Big Ten.

But it took a Zuppke to pry him out of obscurity and develop him into the quarterback of one championship eleven and of another team which is making a strong bid for honors—a Zuppke, plus the dream of a nine-year-old kid.

Two Closed Car Values that Set New Records

PAIGE has established a new record for motor car value with this smart 4-Door Brougham! Never before could so big and fine a car be bought for so little. Any enclosed cars equalling this Paige in size and power actually cost hundreds of dollars more.

For only $2175 Paige offers you this big, powerful, smart Brougham. Handsomely finished in maroon and black with fine-grain leather-finished back, and landau arms. Rich upholstery. Softly cushioned seats. Long, low, graceful lines. There isn't a smarter looking car on the road!

Such glorious performance! Paige beats them all at hill-climbing, getaway, fast pickup! Does it easily, too—never straining, thanks to the more than ample power of its moderate speed, six-cylinder motor. More cylinders would only reduce its perfected smoothness, balance!

And Paige's long wheelbase (131 inches) and rear springs more than 5 feet long, give riding comfort rarely equalled.

Just see it and try it.

BELOW is a trim enclosed Jewett. Smart appearance to gladden the eye. And durable goodness in finish and ability, to gladden pocketbooks. The baked-enamel finish—good for years—needs only an occasional wash to renew its mirror gleam.

Lots of room—five find ample comfort. Both front seats fold forward for easy entrance and exit from either side. Fine upholstery. Soft, deeply cushioned seats.

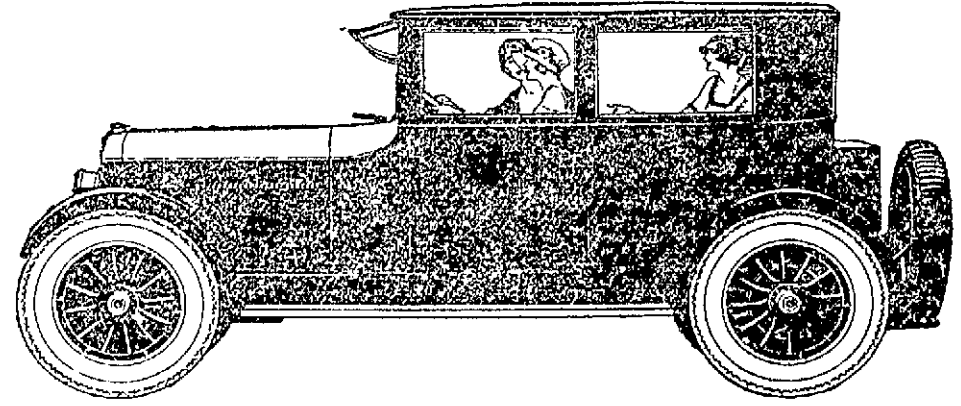

Jewett's big Paige-built six-cylinder motor gives more than ample power for marvelous performance. And never strained, never overtaxed. Why? Big, moderate-speed motor! Smaller motors must turn over faster to develop the same power. Turning over faster means wearing out faster, straining!

Jewett is husky, too! From stem to stern. Hundreds of pounds more strength than cars its size! That extra weight, strength, means longer life. And it means trouble-free life!

You buy all this in the trim Jewett Brougham for only $1385!

“ONE BILLION MILES BEYOND EXPERIMENT”

CHICAGO BATTLES ILLINI FOR TITLE OF WESTERN WHEEL

Irresistible Force Meets Im-movable Object When Grange Bucks Maroons

Chicago—The result of a clash between an irresistible force and an im-movable object was demonstrated Saturday in the meeting here of Illinois, leading contender for Western conference football honors, and Chicago, its nearest competitor.

Harold "Red" Grange the Illini point-a-minute backfield ace, who has sped virtually unhaltered through the flower of Big Ten gridmen since last fall, furnished the irresistible force.

The unyielding wall was the Maroon line, polished to a nicety by the veteran coach, Alonzo Stagg, a master of defense.

Illinois has as nearly a perfect football machine as any ever developed. It had a smooth running attack, a powerful line offensive and forward passes of complex variety.

Weeks ago the 33,000 seating capacity of Stagg field was sold out. No standing room was available Saturday.

Although two other games—Northwestern and Michigan and Indiana at Ohio State—were on the conference grid card, interest was diverted from them to the clash between Notre Dame and Wisconsin at Madison as the Midwest's second biggest football attraction.

Notre Dame hoped for a victory by way of some of the spectacular playing that brought wins over the Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech, and was anxious to journey to Southern California on New Years day with an un-sullied record. Coach Rockne had his full strength in the lineup, with Captain Walsh back at center and Stuhldreher in the pilot position.

The Badgers, after two weeks of preparations, had an unknown bag of tricks from which to draw. They were in better condition than at any time during the season and went into the fray determined.

No championship hopes hung in the balance as Northwestern, who had grips with Michigan at Ann Arbor, Michigan was favored to win because Coach Yost decided to start Captain Herb Steger at his usual halfback post.

Indiana and Ohio State renewed relations at Columbus for the first time since 1917.

The non-conference games of Iowa with Butler at Iowa City, Minnesota with Ames at Minneapolis and Purdue with DePauw at Lafayette, involved questions of individual supremacy.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS BOW TO K. K. K. PINBUSTERS

Cherry Blossoms Thursday evening dropped three games in a row to the K. K. K.'s on the Eagle alleys and the Three K's took the match by a margin of 247 pins. E. Koerner rolled high score of the evening both for game and the match. He topped 200 maps in the first game, 151 in the second and 245 in the third for a 596 total. K. Koletzke of the K. K. K.'s was high man of his team with 564, followed by N. Weber with 550.

COE, CORNELL, KNOX PLAY MIDWEST GAMES

Beloit—Coe, Cornell and Knox colleges fight for the leadership of the Midwest conference in their games Saturday. Knox plays Coe and Cornell meets Beloit at Rockford. Should Cornell, the present leader, win from Beloit the Iowans will remain at the top of the circuit. If Cornell drops to the Gold, the winner of the Knox Coe game will head the conference. Hamilton plays against Carleton in another important Midwest tilt.

Judges Of Play Too Technical, Coaches Claim

New York—From all parts of the country are coming walls from the football coaches that the officials are entirely too technical.

Without a doubt, the open style of game, featuring intricate shifts and forward passes from many untried formations, offers plenty of chances for the official to blow his whistle or horn if inclined to be severely technical.

Many of the leading coaches are contending that time after time the game is stopped for some infraction of the rule when the slip had no bearing whatever on the play.

The coaches insist that the football fans want to see the players advance the ball rather than the officials—and rightly so.

Scores of football games are spoiled for the spectator every year because the officials insist on going on parade.

WINTER TENNIS COURT

A winter tennis court, featuring national stars of the game, is being planned for the east coast of Florida.

Dance, Sunday evening at Waverly. Good music. Good time.

Freak Stunts Feature Recent World Series

Nurmi No. 2

Washington—No world series ever produced half the unusual situations that cropped out in the 1924 event. For instance:

Walter Johnson struck out 12 men, yet was beaten 4 to 3 in 12 innings.

Catcher Tate, second string catcher to Muddy Ruel of Washington, was sent to the bat three times as a pinch hitter and drew a walk on each occasion.

Pitcher Marberry of Washington worked in four of the seven games, three of them on successive days. He saved the second game by striking out Jackson for the final out of the contest on three pitched balls.

Pitcher Jonnard of the New York Giants, sent in a relief pitcher, was allowed to pitch only five balls before being derailed. He walked the first man to face him on four straight, three one ball to the next batter and then got the gate.

In a pinch in the final game, Frankie Frisch struck out, Johnson turning the trick. It was his first strikeout in four world series.

Johnson, third baseman for the Giants, the youngest player in the series, made four hits in one game off Walter Johnson, the oldest athlete.

Goose Goslin, by making three home runs, tied the record that was held by Babe Ruth and made in 1923. Washington came from behind to win every one of the four games necessary to decide the baseball championship.

With runners on, Walter Johnson in the final game of the series, twice passed Jackson to take a chance on Kolly, suiting out the star first sacker of the Giants each time.

In one game Frankie Frisch robbed Godlin of three hits by making seemingly impossible plays on two short fly balls and one grounder.

In only one game did the Giants go through with the pitcher who started. More pitchers were used on both sides than in any other world series clash.

In the final contest two badly bounding balls sent over the top and winning runs for Washington.

Kelly of New York played three positions during the series, first base, center field and second base. He performed in sensational style at each spot.

In the final game a pinch hitter doubled starting the rally that tied up the game. In the 12th inning of the same game, Ruel, after getting a life when Gowdy stumbled over his mask going after a foul fly, doubled and later scored the winning run.

Ruel of the Nationals, after going six games and seven innings of the seventh without a hit, made two hits in the last four innings of the series that practically decided the contest.

SPORT ANSWERS

DEAR SIR: Was Pop Anson a soft drink or a short fly? In embroidering red undershorts is it advisable to use a No. 2 iron or a masher needle? You tell the barber throw Landis for a three-yard loss.

B. V. D.

Ans. Your horizontals are perfect but your verticals are cockeyed.

Bum. My grandson fell off a five story building and landed on his head this morning. I fear the worst. Any advice you have to offer will be thoroughly ignored.—DEUCES WILD

Ans. Let nature take its course. Maybe he would have gone in for crossword puzzles, anyway.

SIMPLE: I'm a great hitter and as a fielder I cover more ground than a Minnesota snowstorm. I'd like to get a job with the Giants but I know nothing about baseball. Have you any suggestions? If so, please keep them. CUP AND SAUCER JAKE.

Ans. You should weigh 11 1/2 pounds with your ears washed. Self-addressed envelope and I will tell you what Mr. Coolidge really thinks of Al Johnson now.

DEAR BOLOGNA: What is the difference between a master mind in baseball and a guy who thinks he's Grand Duke Laughtoff of Russia? I read your column to my kids every night. It hasn't failed to put them to sleep yet.—SWEET SIXTEEN.

Ans. Can you imagine what would have become of the country if the Prince of Wales had gone on that ride instead of Paul Revere?

DEAR PUPPLANT: Some weeks ago Ben Johnson was advised to keep his shirt on. Can you tell me if he still has it on and if it is the same one? —BROKEN-HEARTED (My arches ain't so good either, if you must know)

Ans. We fear anything we might say on this matter would get under the gentleman's skin. However, don't take any wooden lozenges.

SAP: In playing a friendly game of seven-up with Nicky Arnstein, Abe Attell and Ponzi, is it considered good form to lead the king?—JIMMIE.

Ans. What's the matter with your left?

PACKERS WIND UP HOME SEASON WITH DULUTH PRO SQUAD

Green Bay Eleven Will Seek Revenge for Defeat in Opening Game

Green Bay — The Packers will wind up their 'at home' season Sunday afternoon at Bellevue park when they tackle the undefeated, league leading Duluth Kelly eleven in a National football wheel encounter. The game starts about 2 o'clock and regulation 15 minute periods are scheduled. Halsey Hall, St. Paul sport writer, will make his debut here as a football referee.

The stage is set for a hotly contested gridiron fray. Both teams are reported in the pink of condition and it promises to be a battle worth going miles to see. The visitors haven't lost a game this season. They have four league wins to their credit, including one over the Packers, and are sharing the top of the heap with the famous Cleveland Bulldogs. If they succeed in knocking off the Big Bay Blues, Duluth has been promised a three game trip in the East.

PACKERS WANT REVENGE

However, the Packers expect to have something to say about Sunday's game. The players have been waiting a long while to get even for that 'waterloo' of Sunday, Sept. 28, and tomorrow they will have their chance. A victory over Duluth should raise Green Bay a notch in the percentage table and better the chances for a play off in the national championship series.

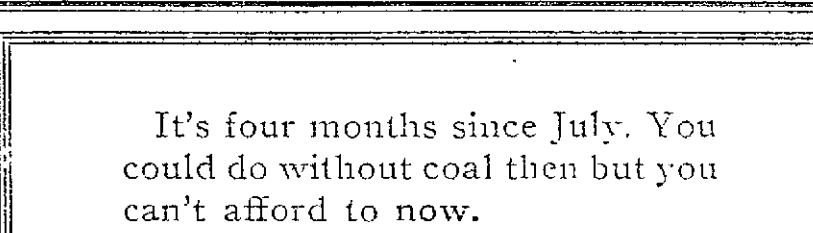

Duluth is coming here with a classy outfit. Underwood, who plays end, is a great forward pass receiver while the three Rooney brothers are corking good footballers. Method and Gilbert are snappy halfbacks while Williams and Kelly rank with the best when it comes to capable line men.

APPLETON HIGH READY TO FIGHT WEST GREEN BAY

Orange Gridders Drill All Week to Meet Aerial Attack of Invaders

Appleton high school grid squad was all set Friday to lock horns with West Green Bay here in a contest which was to decide the fate of the two schools in the valley conference race. The Orange had a slight edge on paper but were ready for a hard battle and had been drilling all week in preparation for a meeting a strong aerial attack.

Their chief weakness in previous games was in this department, but they showed considerable improvement in Thursday morning's drill and indication were Green Bay would find its passes muffed up as fast as they were made.

Scores of Green Bay fans were planning to accompany their team and one of the largest crowds of the year was expected at Lawrence field.

Pindle Takes On Bliss In 3-Cushion Go

Judging from early indications, 3-cushion billiards will be a popular game in Appleton this winter. Several matches already have been staged at the Carr and Hansen parlors, and another is scheduled for Wednesday evening between Harold Pindle, state pocket billiard champion, and Harry Bliss, a rising star of this city. It will be a handicap match with Pindle on the long end, and a $25 purse goes to the winner. Great interest is being displayed in the match, for although Pindle

MACK HAS GOOD PITCHERS

"$UCCE$S"—In Terms Of Dollars And Sense

It must be admitted at once that the most outstanding examples of real Success are men who have given little or no thought to the acquisition of material wealth.

But when we come right down to everyday meanings, Success is generally regarded as being synonymous with Prosperity.

"Success," defined in terms of dollars and sense, means the performance of a long list of practical little acts, each one of which helps one to become a bit more prosperous.

And not the least of these acts is the fixed habit of reading the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified Section.

The very nature of the innumerable opportunities which crowd the classified columns is to bring prosperity within the reach of everybody.

You can't help but enjoy some measure of "Success" if you read the A-B-C ads regularly!

BROADEN CONTACT AND SAVE MONEY, WAY TO SUCCEED

Rosebush Gives Philosophy of Life to Conference Delegates

Five points in finding the right job were given to the young people on gathered here for the Wisconsin Young People's conference by Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton, who talked on that subject Saturday morning. They were: Multiplying contacts with life, studying oneself, learning to say yes when asked to do useful things, selecting the art of saving money and selecting a job where there is a chance for growth.

One must have a knowledge of various things in order to choose the thing he is supremely interested in, and in order to multiply contacts he must choose a wide variety of subjects in outlining his educational course either in high school or college, Mr. Rosebush said. It is a mistake to study extensively one subject to the exclusion of all others.

DO MORE READING

Through reading and here the speaker said he was afraid serious reading was a lost art with the young people of today, one may also secure a broader outlook upon life and what they have from two to three times the opportunity for reading now than they will have in later years.

One must study oneself, asking whether he is supremely interested in the vocation he plans to take up, said Mr. Rosebush. It is only by having a wide knowledge and multiplying one's contacts with life that a person may eliminate second choices and reach the one thing that he is interested in and cares to follow most of all.

He urged that young people learn to say yes when asked to do useful things and adopt an affirmative philosophy rather than a negative, for he declared that one gains in strength by action, not indecision.

As his fourth point he told the young people the value of learning to save money, for a man he said, should be able to supplement his talent by investing.

SEEK RIGHT JOB

He finally advised the young people to seek a job where there is a chance for growth, to seek a job that is beneficial to society and one in which a man does not reach his circumference when he is 40 years old.

Mr. Rosebush named three vocations that he thought stood in a class alone, teaching, secretarialship in Young Men's Christian association and the ministry.

Other features of Saturday morning's session were the conference periods on everyday life relationship and a lecture by Prof. M. A. Lionard on What the Bible Teaches. During the day was the subject of the conference. Dr. W. S. Naylor of Lawrence college met with the girls, while S. F. Shattuck of Neenah talked to the boys. With new registrations, the number of boys and girls attending the conference from cities outside of Appleton amounts to 635.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN, County Court for Outagamie County.

In the matter of the estate of Lucy Frieders, deceased.

Notice is hereby given, that at a special term of the county court to be held in said county at the court house in the city of Appleton in said county, on the 2nd Tuesday, being the 9th day of December A. D. 1924, at the opening of the court on that day, town, creditors of the estate of the said Lucy Frieders, deceased, and for the allowance of the following matter will be heard and considered:

The application of Philip Frieders as the administrator of estate of Lucy Frieders late of the City of Appleton in said county, deceased, for the examination and allowance of his final account (which account is now on file in said court), and for the allowance of debts, claims and other items paid in good faith without having been first filed, approved or allowed by the court, as required by law, and for the determination and adjudication of the inheritance tax, if any, payable in said estate.

Dated November 7th, 1924.

By the Court
PERO W. HEINEMANN.

LONSDORF & STADL, Attorneys for Estate.

CELEBRATES 5TH YEAR AS MINISTER

The Rev Father DuDomains Plans Special Service—Alderman Resigns

Special to Post-Crescent

Waupaca—On Sunday, Nov. 9, the Rev. Alfred L. DuDomains, rector of St. Mark church will commemorate the fifth anniversary of his ordination to the ministry. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Paul O. Kelcher of Appleton, at 11 o'clock Eucharist. Mrs. George Clason will act as soloist for the occasion.

Orville Ballard post of the American legion will observe Armistice day, Nov. 11 at five minutes past eleven o'clock at a gathering in front of the tabernacle on the Courthouse. Sounding of taps will take place as directed by the state department commander. The election of officers, followed by a banquet, will take place in the evening.

On Monday more Waupaca people will leave the city for the winter, going to Florida. Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams of the Waupaca Floral company, attended the chrysanthemum show at Milwaukee conducted by the State Florist association.

Three Waupaca boys will take part in a wrestling match to be staged at Waupaca, Saturday night. Max Laughlin and Hufcutt will meet in a limited time bout, the third local mat man, Peterson, will meet Hufcutt of Oshkosh, and the Windup will bring together VanVusden of Oshkosh and Ray Ayers of Manawa. George Murray of Wisconsin Veterans home will be referee.

The county board will meet in regular session on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

During the short vacation of the city schools due to the state teachers' convention at Milwaukee, all double years in the grade building are being replaced by single desks, which should add to the efficiency of the pupils.

Alderman McLean resigned his seat in the city council, as his future residence in the Fourth ward makes it impossible to continue representing the First ward.

The city council reconsidered previous action on the bond concert up appropriation when the amount was raised from $1,000 to $1,500, as has been the case in the past.

FELZER BOARDING IN HOOGEGOW AGAIN

Norman Felzer was arrested Friday for the third time this year following a complaint that he had broken into the home of his mother and taken his brother's suit of clothes to wear. The young man was found by Officer Carl Radtke in a poolroom and escorted to the police station. In the court Saturday he told Judge Spencer that, although he broke into his mother's house, it was understood that he should be allowed to wear the suit. The case was held open until Monday, Felzer meanwhile going to the county jail.

The young man served 20 days in the workhouse this summer for burglary committed in the George Sofia fruit store, 720 Appleton-st. Later he was arrested for vagrancy when found loitering with three companions in a hay barn. Felzer's chief weakness seems to be a horror for work, and he has been making box cars his headquarters, according to the police.

TOURIST CLUB PLANS THANKSGIVING SUPPER

Tourist club will give a Thanksgiving supper Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. G. Rosebush 525 Park ave. instead of the regular program. Mrs. Frank Hoffbrook, Mrs. Kate Walker and Miss Ellen Buckland will assist Mrs. Rosebush as hostesses to the club.

CONTINUE ORGANIZING NEW A. A. L. BRANCHES

B. E. Mayerhoff, general field man of the Aid Association for Lutherans, is spending a few days at Wisconsin and Omro in organization of branches of the association. He was at Fond du Lac Monday to conduct the election of officers of a branch formed there.

About 30 now have been enrolled in the proposed branch in Trinity Lutheran church, Ellington, by G. D. Ziegler, president of the association. He hopes to have the formal organization meeting on Nov. 18 but an announcement will be made later.

FLAG LIUTENANTS ARE APPOINTED BY ELECTION

Flag lieutenants have been appointed in every block in the downtown section of College-ave by Thomas H. Morrissey, commander of Oney Johnston post of the American legion. Their duty is to notify merchants in their section to display the subvark flags whenever there is a call for general decoration.

This plan was adopted so notice could be spread quickly without consuming the time of any one man or organization and lends to uniformity in decorating.

Lieutenants and their territories are: Louis Bonini, Duane to Drexler; Eric Galpin and W. V. Frank, Madison to Durkin; Harold Young, Oneida to Morrison; Harvey Kitterer, Appleton to Onondaga; J. R. Whitney or W. E. Strassburg, Superior to Appleton; Roy Hauer, ravine to Superior; Stephen Schaefer, Carl Tenno and Charles Hopfensperger, State-st to ravine.

"Y" COMMITTEE PLANS FOR FATHER-SON WEEK

Final plans for father and son week which is held from Nov. 9 to 15 will be made at a meeting of the boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 Saturday evening. Plans for a novel Thanksgiving day program for the association will also be discussed.

The committee consists of H. A. Dittmore, boys work secretary, W. E. Smith and Dr. J. R. Denyes of the Methodist church, A. R. Bades of the Baptist church, C. W. Chose and J. W. Russell of the Congregational church, F. P. Martin of the Presbyterian church, John Trautman of the Evangelical church, Seymour Gmelin of the Episcopal church and Val Beyer, representing the Lutheran churches.

KELLER MAKING SIX TALKS IN THREE DAYS

L. Hugo Keller will be one of the speakers at memorial services of all churches in Neenah on Sunday. Sunday noon he will speak at a dinner at Neenah for all officers of American legion posts in district No. 7 and Sunday evening he is to speak at a legion banquet in West Bend.

On Monday day, Nov. 11, Mr. Keller will dedicate the golden monument at Wrightstown, from there going to Wausau to speak at a legion dinner in the evening. At 9 o'clock Tuesday evening he is to broadcast a speech from Stevens Point, formally opening the membership campaign.

Wednesday night he speaks before St. James mens guild of Kenosha.

It Happens Every Day

When the future president has recently been born into your family and you're probably the proudest father in the U. S. A.—

And you're trying to decide whether to make a bank president out of the boy, or a star left-handed pitcher, or both—

And you suddenly realize that there are a lot of more immediate plans to be made for the young prince—like providing him with a baby carriage to ride in as soon as he's old enough to take the air—

And in looking around, you find that the sort of carriage worthy of the illustrious off-spring is more than you can afford to pay—and you don't know what to do about it—

Until you see a "Baby carriage, originally priced at $75" advertised for sale "at a reasonable price" in the classified columns of THE POST-CRESCENT—

And you investigate and find that it's almost like the one at the store that you couldn't afford and in fine condition and that you can get it at less than a third of the price—

Oh, Man. That's What You Call Service!

CELEBRATES 5TH YEAR AS MINISTER

The Rev Father DuDomains Plans Special Service—Alderman Resigns

Special to Post-Crescent

Waupaca—On Sunday, Nov. 9, the Rev. Alfred L. DuDomains, rector of St. Mark church will commemorate the fifth anniversary of his ordination to the ministry. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Paul O. Kelcher of Appleton, at 11 o'clock Eucharist. Mrs. George Clason will act as soloist for the occasion.

Orville Ballard post of the American legion will observe Armistice day, Nov. 11 at five minutes past eleven o'clock at a gathering in front of the tabernacle on the Courthouse. Sounding of taps will take place as directed by the state department commander. The election of officers, followed by a banquet, will take place in the evening.

On Monday more Waupaca people will leave the city for the winter, going to Florida. Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams of the Waupaca Floral company, attended the chrysanthemum show at Milwaukee conducted by the State Florist association.

Three Waupaca boys will take part in a wrestling match to be staged at Waupaca, Saturday night. Max Laughlin and Hufcutt will meet in a limited time bout, the third local mat man, Peterson, will meet Hufcutt of Oshkosh, and the Windup will bring together VanVusden of Oshkosh and Ray Ayers of Manawa. George Murray of Wisconsin Veterans home will be referee.

The county board will meet in regular session on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

During the short vacation of the city schools due to the state teachers' convention at Milwaukee, all double years in the grade building are being replaced by single desks, which should add to the efficiency of the pupils.

Alderman McLean resigned his seat in the city council, as his future residence in the Fourth ward makes it impossible to continue representing the First ward.

The city council reconsidered previous action on the bond concert up appropriation when the amount was raised from $1,000 to $1,500, as has been the case in the past.

FELZER BOARDING IN HOOGEGOW AGAIN

Norman Felzer was arrested Friday for the third time this year following a complaint that he had broken into the home of his mother and taken his brother's suit of clothes to wear. The young man was found by Officer Carl Radtke in a poolroom and escorted to the police station. In the court Saturday he told Judge Spencer that, although he broke into his mother's house, it was understood that he should be allowed to wear the suit. The case was held open until Monday, Felzer meanwhile going to the county jail.

The young man served 20 days in the workhouse this summer for burglary committed in the George Sofia fruit store, 720 Appleton-st. Later he was arrested for vagrancy when found loitering with three companions in a hay barn. Felzer's chief weakness seems to be a horror for work, and he has been making box cars his headquarters, according to the police.

TOURIST CLUB PLANS THANKSGIVING SUPPER

Tourist club will give a Thanksgiving supper Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. G. Rosebush 525 Park ave. instead of the regular program. Mrs. Frank Hoffbrook, Mrs. Kate Walker and Miss Ellen Buckland will assist Mrs. Rosebush as hostesses to the club.

CONTINUE ORGANIZING NEW A. A. L. BRANCHES

B. E. Mayerhoff, general field man of the Aid Association for Lutherans, is spending a few days at Wisconsin and Omro in organization of branches of the association. He was at Fond du Lac Monday to conduct the election of officers of a branch formed there.

About 30 now have been enrolled in the proposed branch in Trinity Lutheran church, Ellington, by G. D. Ziegler, president of the association. He hopes to have the formal organization meeting on Nov. 18 but an announcement will be made later.

FLAG LIUTENANTS ARE APPOINTED BY ELECTION

Flag lieutenants have been appointed in every block in the downtown section of College-ave by Thomas H. Morrissey, commander of Oney Johnston post of the American legion. Their duty is to notify merchants in their section to display the subvark flags whenever there is a call for general decoration.

This plan was adopted so notice could be spread quickly without consuming the time of any one man or organization and lends to uniformity in decorating.

Lieutenants and their territories are: Louis Bonini, Duane to Drexler; Eric Galpin and W. V. Frank, Madison to Durkin; Harold Young, Oneida to Morrison; Harvey Kitterer, Appleton to Onondaga; J. R. Whitney or W. E. Strassburg, Superior to Appleton; Roy Hauer, ravine to Superior; Stephen Schaefer, Carl Tenno and Charles Hopfensperger, State-st to ravine.

ELECTION GIVES BUSINESS CHANCE TO ADJUST ITSELF

Period of Quiet Good for Business and Businessmen, Babson Says

Babson Park, Mass.—Roger W. Babson today issued the following statement regarding the election and business.

"Everything in this world has its advantages and its disadvantages as well as its uses and abuses. This applies to the effect of presidential elections on business as well as to everything else. Even sicknesses have their uses since they force men to be quiet for a while, rest up, review their plans, make new resolutions and start afresh. A great English statesman once said: 'American business men need only one thing, namely, to be locked in a room for about three weeks each year and forced to think and get their bearings.' In this general way the election does a good thing in slowing down business for a few weeks preceding election day. Everyone can see the election as an alibi, or as an excuse, to do what he has not the self control to do without such an alibi. This applies to all lines of business, and really is a good thing."

"The banks hold off loaning money after election. This gives them time to get cleared up and in strong financial position. The merchants tell the salesmen who call on them to wait until after election. It gives them a chance to get their books cleaned and work off old stock preparatory to some real buying. The manufacturer uses the election as an alibi to reduce overhead, adjust wages and introduce some efficiency in the business. Of course, these things make business quiet for two or three months preceding election day, but they are all helpful. Hence, although business has been pretty poor in many lines during the summer and fall, yet little has been lost and much gained by the housecleaning and rest period of this presidential campaign."

"Business as shown by the Babsonchart, is today 35 per cent below normal as compared with 15 per cent below normal a year ago. Obviously the fundamental situation is much better than it was then."

"It is interesting to note the action of the commodity market in recent years. Taking the five years 1904-1908-1912-1916-1920—and that the price level of all commodities advanced in four years and declined in one. The decline was down during the drastic readjustment and depression of 1920 and 1921. The Babsonchart shows that the price level reached a low of 7.631 in July, 1921. Then there was a steady rise to a point six months later, 9.32, 1922 and 1923 was an exact duplicate of the 1924 movement. 1925 and 1926 was no exception and four years later, we again see a similar movement—a low August 1930 of 1.441, then a steady rise six months later to about 14.100. The next election year, 1920, found prices steadily downward. So far, 1924 has followed exactly the movement noted in the four year of rising prices."

"Both groups of commodities, industrial and agricultural, sympathize with the trends mentioned above. The main difference, however, is noted in the fact that industrial commodities, as shown by the Babson Industrial Index, in 1904, 1908, 1912 and 1916 reached the yearly low point before the election and held a higher average into the inauspicious year, while agricultural products in these same years reached their low after election."

"The results of the election are not satisfactory to everyone. Many people who have worked hard are disappointed with the result. All of us whatever our allegiance—would like to have had something different. The fact, nevertheless, remains that the election is over and the alibi and excuses of election can no longer be given. Now it is up to the banker to make loans; up to the merchant to buy the goods; and up to the manufacturer to start the wheels of industry. We should all get busy and get ahead. We cannot expect to get back at once to boom times. The adjustment process is not yet complete, but we have passed the low point and should steadily work upward. All statistics indicate that business should pick up for the next few months at least. America is a great country and has the opportunity to be the banking and building up the commerce of the world. The developments which have taken place in Europe during the past few days should materially help the situation."

With Election Doubt Over Trade Gets Well Underway

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

New York—So far as business is concerned, the outstanding event of the week was the election. Regardless of the result the important fact is that it is over and that an interval of uncertainty is past. Of course it is customary for political wise men to prophesy disaster if their candidates are not elected. And of course men of sense are not at all fooled by these prophecies. The hesitancy preceding an election is not based on a fear that the nation may be plunged into ruin by the election. It is very wisely founded on doubt as to the policy of the Government toward business. No matter how things go, business will generally adjust itself to the policy expected. But it cannot know what that policy will be or how to adjust itself until after the election is over and this breeds the hesitancy usual before the national decision day. This year it was further complicated by a fear that the period of uncertainty would be prolonged by a deadlock and a protracted struggle in the house. This is now all removed and business men everywhere are buckling down to the matter of resuming their normal programs.

As the country faces the definite long pull of winter, the outstanding factors in the situation seem to be that the cotton mill situation is approaching correction, the farm production season is practically ended, the movement of freight is on an extraordinary scale and production is moving upward.

HEAVIER PRODUCTION
The market, as noted, is optimistic. It feels greatly encouraged by the victory of the Conservative party in the English elections and the election of Mr. Coolidge. With major political uncertainties thus largely eliminated, business, the market believes, will improve rapidly. Forecasters are now figuring that the world will consume 2,500,000 bales or more of American cotton this season, with the result that the supply situation will remain as critical as it has been in recent seasons. This means that we are expected to go through at least another year of high and violently fluctuating cotton prices.

In the meantime it is to be noted that the cotton cloth trade is steadily even rapidly improving. The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, for example, reports that "The New England cotton mills are quite rapidly returning to a larger output. Production during early October was reported to be about 60 to 65 per cent of capacity. Mill stocks were reported to be the lowest on record. Increased production is reported also from the South. The reduced stocks in mill warehouses and in the hands of distributors constitutes one of the most favorable factors in the cotton goods situation just now. It is believed that the trade is pretty thoroughly liquidated. Both wholesale and retail distributors, as a consequence, are beginning to place forward orders more freely."

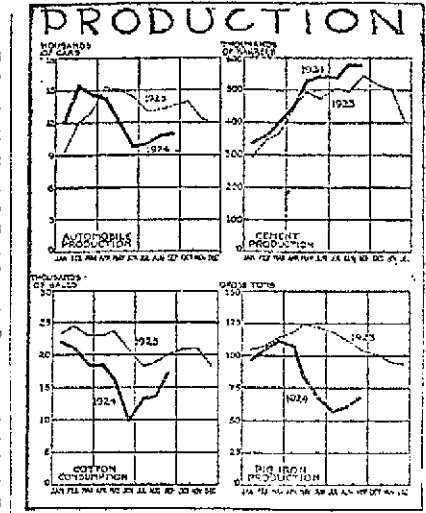

Business in the wool goods market has been rather slack during the last couple of weeks, but this has not prevented the American Woolen Co. from coming out with still another advance on spring lines. But the trade is beginning to discover that the slack in the domestic market is being taken up abroad, and observation of the activities of foreign buyers in the West and in foreign markets seems to lead to the conclusion that prices are more likely to go higher than lower.

FARM SEASON CLOSING
On the farm the production season is nearly closed. The threshing of grain is practically at an end, and the cotton gins of the South are pushing along towards the end of the season and the farms are being tidied up after a period of very unexpected and prosperous activity. The corn growers are having a little trouble with soft corn. The potato farmers, with an enormous crop, are having a little trouble with their markets. But on the whole, the farmers are looking in on a fine year. Mortgages are being paid, as evidenced by bank reports. Retail buying is proceeding actively as evidenced by mail order sales. And farmers are planning improvements which will help sales of building materials. This emergence of the farmer from his pressing financial difficulties should exercise a powerful effect on general business throughout the winter.

HEAVY TRANSPORTATION
Last week I pointed out that many business men were not waiting for the election to go ahead with their plans. They had made up their minds how things were going to go and also that things were going to go no matter what happened and they set about getting their own goods to market. The extraordinary movement of revenue freight is evidence of this. In the last week of October, a new high record for all time of cars loaded was made.

The other important factor is the unmistakable growth in the volume of production. This is not on a very exciting scale. But the curve is upward. In the iron mills this also continues to be true and now, with the election behind us, it should move somewhat faster. Buying and inquiry in the pig iron market showed signs of great improvement in the week preceding election. The performance of the pig iron furnaces for October turned out to better than had been expected.

The total for the month was 2,477,127 tons, or 75,607 tons a day, against 2,553,524 tons in September or 83,412 tons a day—the average daily gain being 11,465 tons, or nearly 17 per cent. There was one day more in October than in September.

and crowding for high output is an October tradition. Thirteen furnaces blew in October and four blew out, making the net gain nine. The 182 furnaces active on November 1 had a daily capacity of 81,490 tons, against 72,255 tons a day for 173 furnaces on October 1.

REPAIR WORK IS FIRM'S SPECIALTY

Heinzen Ignition Service Station Has Modern Equipment

Electrical repair work for all cars is the specialty of the Heinzen Ignition Service Station. Work on generators, starters, motors, lighting ignition, magnetos and anything requiring electrical repairing is efficiently handled.

This firm handles electrical tractor equipment, a complete stock being kept on hand. In these days of radio radio batteries receive special attention. Besides being repaired and kept up in efficiency throughout the year, batteries are stored and cared for during the winter so that they are fully as efficient and ready for use in the spring as they were the preceding year.

Work is carried on throughout this entire section of the state as well as locally, much being done for Wisconsin firms. The equipment of this company is complete and up-to-date. Testing equipment used by them is especially efficient for the needs of the customers, and their equipment on the whole ranks with the best in the country.

Mr. Heinzen has been in the work his entire life here and throughout the state with many large concerns and is fully qualified to give the best of service in this line.

ELECTION BOOSTS LUMBER INDUSTRY

The national election having been consummated to the entire satisfaction of the business world, and confidence in the continued prosperity of the country thus established, a great stimulus has been given the lumber trade. Demand for both soft woods and hardwoods is becoming very active and the market is strengthening considerably. The improvement, as a matter of fact began several days before election, when three interests came into the market evidently buying for stock fully as much as for immediate requirements in confident expectation of a satisfactory outcome of the election.

Southern pine occupies a particularly strong position. This wood has in reality been in good demand throughout the fall, and bookings during the latter part of October rose to some points above normal, exceeding production by approximately one-fifth. This demand has been coming especially from the South and Southwest.

With the East, and lately the middle West, contributing a good share. The North, however, has been uncertain and waiting, and it is in this section that the improvement consequent to the favorable election result has been most noticeable.

Douglas fir for several weeks has been very quiet and has shown some weakness, but now furnishes every indication of responding to the present constructive influence as has southern pine. Expanded demand from the middlewestern and northern consuming territories, with a consequent steadying of the market is reported by distributors of this wood. Western pines have also taken on new activity.

FLOWERS CHANGE WITH SEASON, SO FLORIST DECLARES

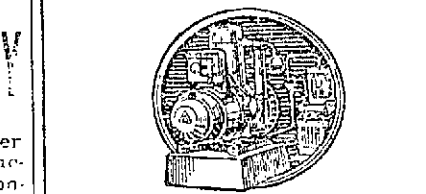

Miles Meidam Has Been in Floral Business for Half Century

Chrysanthemums are the style in flowers at the present time according to Miles Meidam, proprietor of the Junction Greenhouse located at 1362 Carver-St. Styles in flowers change with the season, only one or two being popular the year round. Roses are always wanted, for both summer and winter blooming and begonia plants can be used the entire year, but no other flower plant enjoys this popularity. Bulbs and shrubbery are put in at this time of the year, so that there is a demand for them every day. The Junction Greenhouses specialize in bedding plants and cut flowers. Special wreaths for wedding and funerals are other important specialties. Most of the orders are from this city although flowers are sent to nearby towns. Years ago there was quite a lot of shipping done by the local firm, but this has ceased almost entirely.

A very convenient and important service given to the customers of the Junction Greenhouses is the Florist "Telegraph Delivery." A customer in Appleton can order flowers for a person anywhere else in the world. The local greenhouse through this service gets in touch with a florist of the organization in the town in question and the flowers are delivered immediately. In the United States the order is sent out within 15 or 20 minutes after the message is received. This enables the customer to get "hurry up" orders to their destination on time. If they are unable to go to a wedding or funeral they make use of this method. Ninety per cent of the florists of the world are members of this organization. Mothers day orders come through by this service a half dozen at a time. Mr. Meidam, the proprietor of the Junction Greenhouses, has been in the work since 1875. He has conducted the entire 50 years of the work in the city, having been born and raised here.
